MURDER LIST IN IRELAND GROWS

Five Members of Belfast Family Killed

Three Murders on the Fer-managh Border

Belfast, March 24.—A band of men forced their way into the house of Owen McMahon, a saloon keeper, early this morning and shot seven members of the family. News of the raid has profoundly stirred the entire city. McMahon and three of his sons were killed outright, another son died of his wounds and two others are near death. The crime is thought to have been in reprisal for the shooting of a number of special constables in Main Street yesterday.

At about 1.30 o'clock this morning the raiders, who are reported to have worn uniforms, smashed the door of the McMahon residence in the North End of the city and rushed upstairs, where the occupants of the house were sleeping. The male members of the family were taken to the living room, lined up against the wall and riddled with bullets.

On Floor.

Mrs. McMahon and her daughter rushed down to the living room when the attackers departed and found the seven lying on the floor in pools of blood, three of the bodies in a heap.

When the police arrived they found the women in a state of collapse. Ambulance took the victims to the hospital, where it was found that the four were already dead. The mother of the hospital reported that the two wounded sons were very weak.

Another son who was ordered into the room by the band, by throwing himself under a lounge, and was not injured, although two shots were fired at him.

An ambulance attendant collapsed after helping to carry the bodies into the hospital, although hardened to scenes of bloodshed.

A Fight.

A six-hour running fight occurred between Ulster special constables and Sinn Feiners in the vicinity of the Rickmore, County Tyrone, yesterday. Fighting started when fifty of the police in motor lorries were ambushed outside the town. The ambushing party was concealed behind a horse bank on the roadside and opened fire at a distance of 1,000 yards.

The police immediately jumped out of their cars and engaged the attacking band, which retreated across the hills. The pursuit continued for several hours with frequent exchanges of shots.

At last five Sinn Feiners are believed to have been hit. One with a bullet in the head was found under a bed in a house which was raided during the chase.

Bullets pierced the capes of several of the special constables, but none was wounded.

Other Murders.

Belfast, March 24.—Joseph Campbell, a Belfast city official, was shot and killed by a sniper in New Lodge Road this afternoon.

Three murders were reported from the Fermanagh-Tyrone border. The victims were Frank Kelly, Edward McLoughlin and William Cassidy. All were shot to death. It is believed that the murders were connected.

SPANISH REVERSE IN NORTH MOROCCO

Moorish Tribesmen Win Success in Campaign

Bombard Town and Sink
Spanish Steamship

London, March 24.—Discussing the bombardment of Alhucemas by the Moors and the sinking of a Spanish steamship, the London Times has declared that the Spanish press in the last week was filled with optimistic news with regard to Morocco.

"It is scarcely conceivable," the dispatch adds, "that Spain will sit down under the Rif success or postpone an immediate attack, but the task in this part of the Rif region presents great difficulties. The Rif is a mountainous and possesses considerable cannon. They have entrenched positions and have reported hundreds of Spanish prisoners."

The foregoing dispatch would indicate that the Spaniards have suffered a reverse in the vicinity of Alhucemas, situated on the northern coast of Morocco, about 60 miles west of Melilla. Advice from Madrid and Malilla have reported considerable activity in this region recently. Minister of War Olaguer in Madrid last Monday confirmed reports that General Frederico Berenguer, of the Spanish forces, had been wounded and that the Moroccan artillery had been destroyed.

An official dispatch from Madrid dated Tuesday said the Spanish batteries at Alhucemas had been destroyed and that the Spanish cruiser Espana also had been destroyed. The statement added that the Moorish guns had ultimately been silenced by the Alhucemas batteries.

CHURCH MEETINGS FOR SPOONING ARE UPHELD AND SCORED

Parsons, Kansas, March 24.—"The Church is not the place for spooning bees," said Dr. H. A. Smoot, pastor of the First Baptist Church here when told of the suggestion of Dr. Owen Brown, Los Angeles Baptist Minister of Spokane, Wash., yesterday, that the B. Y. P. U. meetings be made a courting hour.

"We encourage couples to attend our services," said Dr. Smoot, "and we want them to sit together, but I do not think the church was intended for spooning parlor."

Immigration Inquiry In Canada Is Urged

Ottawa, March 24.—Frank S. Cahill, Liberal, Pontiac, Quebec, has given notice that he will move in the House for the appointment of a special committee "to investigate the cause and volume of immigration from Canada and the means best calculated to promote immigration, and to report the result of such investigation at an early date."

Extensive changes in the personnel of select standing committees of the House of Commons are shown in the list of names submitted by the Striking Committee and approved by the House to-day.

BULGAR ALPHABET STRUGGLE INTENSE

Two Cabinet Ministers Give Resignations

Plan to Throw Out Three Letters Cause

Sofia, March 24.—Two members of the Cabinet resigned yesterday as the result of differences in the Ministry over the Government's determination to eliminate three letters from the Bulgarian alphabet, which was announced several weeks ago.

M. Tourkoff gave up the portfolio of Finance, and M. Omartchiski that of Education.

It is expected the Ministry will be reconstructed rapidly. M. Stambouliski continuing as Premier.

An organized protest by the intellectuals in Bulgaria followed announcement on February 24 of the Government's plan to simplify the nation's orthography.

Serious agitation has divided the country for some time over the decision of the Government to eliminate from the alphabet the double E, small R and capital R. These letters are silent, but, according to literary authorities, render the printing and writing of the language easier. The intellectuals, newspapers, and intellectual classes have bitterly opposed the elimination of the letters by the peasant regime.

VALERISTS CAUSE UNREST IN DUBLIN

"Republican Army" Convention Planned Despite Orders

Dublin, March 24.—The open threat of revolution signified by the decision of the anti-Free State "Irish Republican Army" Sunday "has created a precarious position," the London Times has reported here, declares in a dispatch to his paper.

The statement by Commandant Roderick O'Connor on Wednesday that eighty per cent. of the army's members are against the treaty the correspondent believes to be exaggerated. The Daily Minister believes the coming election will result in a sweeping victory for the treaty and that thereafter they will be able to deal firmly with any anti-Free State conspiracy.

The meeting place of the army convention has not been divulged.

PLAN TO FIGHT CATTLE DISEASE

British Officials Suggest International Co-operation

London, March 24.—A somewhat novel proposal was made in the House of Commons last night during the discussion of the Board of Agriculture estimates, namely, for international co-operation in dealing with the cattle diseases, especially the foot and mouth disease.

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, President of the Board of Agriculture, declared that he proposed to approach some of the European Governments and ask their assistance in international research. He thought much would depend on the French Government's reception of the scheme, but said that if the various governments would pool their experience and make common use of any new discoveries, much could be done to combat cattle disease. He therefore would ask the assistance of the Foreign Office in the matter with a view to preventing a recurrence of such an epidemic as had flourished among cattle in Great Britain recently.

MAIL BUNDLE OF "KNIVES AND FORKS" WAS IRISH WHISKY

Chicago, March 24.—Postal clerks sorting dead letters and parcels to-day found a package labelled "Knives and Forks," mailed from Ireland to an unrecognizable Chicago destination. Opening it to catalogue the contents for an auction, they discovered the Irish tableware had been distilled and bottled.

Two quarts of cutlery, according to the official records, were then poured into the sewer.

JAPAN WILL SEND HAYASHI TO GENOA

Ambassador to Britain Heads Delegation

Ishii and Kojo Mori to Accompany Him

Tokio, March 24.—The Japanese delegation to the Genoa Conference, according to an informal announcement to-day, will be headed by Baron Goro Hayashi, Ambassador to Great Britain. His immediate associates will be Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, President of the Council of League of Nations, and Kojo Mori, Financial Commissioner in Paris and London.

The principal members of the suite will include Toshiko Kijima, Minister of Poland; Nabatake Sato, Counselor to the Legation at Paris, and Kazuo Matsubara, Counselor in Berlin.

There also will be five lesser diplomats and fifteen assistants, who, with officials of the finance department, and a number of business representatives will bring the total to about fifty.

FARMERS FROM U. S. TO CANADA

Prairies Will Attract Thousands This Year

Statements Made by Man Who Investigated

Toronto, March 24.—Western Canada will get thousands of farmers from the Central United States this year, said G. C. Porter, one-time Winnipeg newspaperman, who is returning after a month's investigation of immigration prospects South of the line.

"I found the conditions for the movement Northward better than at any time since 1910," he said. "This year the price of wheat is $2.75 a bushel, and the price of land has reached from $300 to $500 an acre in those prairie states from which the Canadian Prairies have drawn so many farmers in other years. Owners of these high-priced lands are anxious to get rid of them. They are getting adequate interest on their investments. Wheat at $2.75 a bushel is a good price for a tenant something, but not at present prices."

Therefore, farmers have got to move. There are no cheap farm lands or homesteads to-day in the Western part of the United States. They have some money, farm equipment, and a good knowledge of the Canadian immigration offices I found forty to fifty letters of inquiry daily being received and an average of a dozen personal calls daily from farmers who want to go North. Many have already started, and at the Chicago office of the Canadian immigration department I found forty-nine cars of settlers' goods ready to move over the line. The United States railway is making a special round-trip rates to Canada for the first time in ten years, which will help enormously in bringing people who want to investigate conditions.

Clubs.

"I was impressed by what the agents told me was necessary to do. They are not the Prairie Provinces if they want to encourage this stream of immigration. It must be co-operation. They must meet the needs of immigrants and display sympathetic interest in seeing them satisfactorily located on the land. The agents told me that the Canadian immigration department is making a special effort to make the newcomers satisfied after they get there."

HABEAS CORPUS APPEAL FAILED

Liquor Charge Against Seattle Men in Vancouver

Vancouver, March 24.—"I hold there is no merit in the application. Call the next case," was the abrupt dismissal made by Chief Justice Hunter this morning of the habeas corpus application on behalf of Charles W. Lewis and Andrew H. Johansen, alleged Seattle run runners.

"These men are innocent men; at least that is the presumption of British Law," said their counsel, E. W. Brougham.

"Yes, bootleggers are always innocent—until they are caught," agreed the Chief Justice.

The habeas corpus proceedings were taken upon the point of law that Lewis and Johansen, being United States citizens, could not be proceeded against for an offence committed within the Admiralty jurisdiction without the consent of the Governor-General. The men were run down by the customs officials outside the Sandheads three weeks ago after leaving port with a cargo of whisky. They are charged with refusing to obey the customs officials.

LOAN RUMOR IN AUSTRIA DENIED; NO EXPLANATION

Vienna, March 24.—Only yesterday was official denial given to last week's widely printed report of a new United States loan to Austria of $50,000,000, but no explanation was given as to its origin.

The newspapers hint at sensational developments if the facts are made known.

SIX BURNED TO DEATH IN HOUSE IN MANITOBA

Portage la Prairie, March 24.—Six persons were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home at Amaranth, Manitoba, north of this city, early this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Max Warkentin, their three children and a maid were the ones who lost their lives.

TENTATIVE PLAN FOR JOFFRE VISIT

Public Meeting Draws Up
Reception Programme

Everything Depends on Marshal's Acceptance

Mayor Marchant has sent the following wireless message to Marshal Joffre, on board the Silver State:

"Victoria extends to Marshal Joffre and yourself warmest greetings and cordial welcome."

A tentative programme, subject to the approval of Marshal Joffre, was outlined last night at a largely attended meeting of prominent business and professional men of the City and representatives of all the leading men and women's organizations, including the ex-service organizations, providing for the entertainment of the famous French war commander and his party during their stay in Victoria next week. The gathering was held in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms.

The reception programme has been worked out by the committee at sea, and providing it meets with his sanction it will include a welcome at the docks at which a Guard of Honor will be in attendance and the Boys Naval Brigade and band will have a place of prominence. The band will play the National Anthem and the Canadian Anthem.

Following the public demonstration in honor of the notable visitor at the docks it is expected that he will be taken to the guests of His Honor Lieut.-Governor Walter C. Nichol at Government House.

The Banquet.

At 6.30 o'clock Tuesday evening he will be the guest of honor at the Canadian Club Banquet at the Empress Hotel, and at 8.30 o'clock the same evening the Parliament Buildings will be thrown open for public reception. During the visit of the party the Parliament Buildings will be lighted each evening.

The party will be taken for a walk in the park on Wednesday morning. (Concluded on page 18.)

PRAIRIES OPPOSE REQUEST OF B.C.

Railway Board Hears Freight Rate Arguments

Ottawa, March 24.—That reductions in railway freight rates for the Pacific coast would be of no benefit to consumers on the prairies was a statement made by I. Pittblado, K. C., representing the Winnipeg Board of Trade before the Railway Commission and opposing the application of British Columbia for reductions in class and distributing rates.

He also argued that such reductions would take away from prairie distributing centres business they had built up at much expense and on the supposition that such rates as had enabled them to do so would be continued.

COURT TO GIVE BALLOT RULING

Nelson, B. C., March 24.—Patrick Legg, who was charged with bribery at the instance of the Conservatives, pleaded guilty in police court to applying for a ballot in the by-election in the name of Patrick Legg. Magistrate W. Brown did not pronounce sentence, but adjourned the case.

HEALTH WEEK ADDRESS TO-NIGHT ON MILK SUPPLY

The subject to be discussed at the Health meeting at the Alexandra hall to-night will be the milk supply. The chair will be occupied at 8 o'clock by a representative from the Provincial Livestock Department. Two doctors will speak upon the subject.

My as an essential article of diet and its food values will be considered, also diseases transmitted to man through milk, and the care of milk in the farm, the dairy and the house, with a view to prevention of disease.

The milk supply of Victoria will be compared with that of other cities.

This will be the last meeting of the series during the week. It is hoped that it will be well attended, there being many matters connected with the subject which should afford material for interesting and useful discussion. Doctors regard the subject to-night as one of the most practical of the series.

FALSE RUMORS START BANK RUN

Several Women Crushed and Trampled in Chicago

100 Policemen at Scene;
Some Carried Rifles

Chicago, March 24.—Several women were crushed and trampled in a scramble of depositors of the Northwestern Trust and Savings Bank on the northwest side of Chicago to-day. The run was said to have resulted from false rumors concerning the bank's financial strength. Bank officials were paying out money as fast as the depositors could be served and other banks were said to be ready to supply all the cash needed.

John F. Smulski, head of the bank and a national Polish leader, announced a reward of $5,000 for information of the identity of the persons responsible for the run.

The bank's last statement showed reserves of $18,453,277.

Depositors gathered in front of the bank last night and there were angry demonstrations until police arrived. Mr. Smulski informed the throng that the bank was safe and that all who desired could have their money in the morning.

100 Policemen.

Early to-day depositors began gathering at the bank anew. Twelve policemen arrived to keep the depositors in line. The jam became so great outside the bank finally that 100 policemen, 25 of them armed with rifles, were placed on duty there. Dozens of women were carried into the bank in a fainting condition. The Federal Reserve Bank, at which the Northwestern is a member, sent $750,000 in an armored car to the bank. The Continental and Commercial National Bank sent $1,000,000. A run of smaller proportions started to-day at the Second Northwestern Trust and Savings Bank, a subsidiary of the Northwestern Trust and Savings Bank.

The sale was ratified by the shareholders of both the Merchants' Bank and the Bank of Montreal and by the Minister of Finance.

GOVERNMENT STARTS ROAD PROGRAMME

Tenders for Rossland-Christian Lake Project to Close April 10

Marking the inauguration of the Provincial Government road building programme for the current year, tenders are now being called for the construction of Trans-Provincial project 23, sections G and K, Rossland-Christian Lake sections.

Contractors are invited to submit bids for clearing and rough grading of nineteen miles of road, and tenders must be submitted to the Minister of Public Works, Hon. Dr. W. H. Sutherland, by noon, April 10.

It is estimated that the completion of this section of the Government highway will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000.

TORONTO BUDGET FOR YEAR 1922 IS $26,866,927

Toronto, March 24.—A draft of Toronto's 1922 budget issued yesterday calls for a gross expenditure for the year of $26,866,927.54, as compared with an actual expenditure of $25,707,304.17 last year.

The Commissioner announces a surplus of $723,746.44 for the last year, made up by cuts in expenditure by the various departments and by greater revenue than was expected.

STOLE MAIL BOX AND ENDED LIFE

Hamilton Barber Also Killed
His Wife

Hamilton, Ont., March 24.—The police to-day found a large letter box in the rear of a barber shop in which Wasei Capera murdered his wife and ended his own life yesterday. It had been wrenched off a pole on a street corner near Capera's house. It is the theory of the police that Capera thought his wife had mailed a letter in the box telling the police of his still and that he stole the whole box in order to prevent the letter from reaching the authorities.

POLAND RAISES £4,000,000 LOAN IN GREAT BRITAIN

Warsaw, March 24.—The Polish delegates sent to London to seek a loan for Poland announced they have arranged one of £4,000,000 with an important British financial group. They assert that the loan was effected under favorable conditions.

CHILD HAD BUTTON IN HER WINDPIPE; NOW BREATHES WELL

Philadelphia, March 24.—Three-year-old Ellen Louise Nettles, of Potstown, Pa., who for four months had been able to breathe only through the four small holes in a button lodged in her throat, to-day was well and happy as a result of an operation yesterday by Philadelphia surgeon Dr. J. H. East and Dr. West Kootenay, having followed the vacation while playing last November and it lodged in her windpipe.

Officials of Former Merchants' Bank Are Summoned to Court

Sir H. Montagu Allan, Who Was President, and D. C. Macarow, Who Was General Manager, Called to Appear; Information Laid By Ottawa Department.

Montreal, March 24.—Judge Cusson announced this morning that he had "allowed summonses to be issued" for Sir Hugh Montagu Allan and D. C. Macarow. The former was president of the Merchants' Bank of Canada and the latter general manager.

The information upon which the summonses was issued was sworn to before Judge Cusson by Robert B. Viets, an employee of the Department of Finance, Ottawa. C. A. Wilson acted as legal adviser for Mr. Viets and for the Department of Justice.

The charge against Sir Montagu Allan is for having "falsely and negligently concurred in the preparation of the October financial statement made by the Merchants' Bank to the Department of Finance," and which did not show that the bank's reserve fund was impaired.

The charge against Mr. Macarow is for having falsely and wilfully made a deceptive return to the Federal Government on the bank's standing.

Sir Montagu Allan and Mr. Macarow will appear in court this afternoon.

The Merchants' Bank was compelled to accept an offer from the Bank of Montreal to sell out when it was found that, owing to enormous bad debts incurred in loans made to the brokerage houses of Thornton, Day and Martin, and other banks, Gosnell & Company, and a number of commercial concerns, its reserve fund of $9,000,000 had been severely impaired.

The sale was ratified by the shareholders of both the Merchants' Bank and the Bank of Montreal and by the Minister of Finance.

FOUR-POWER PACT RATIFIED TO-DAY BY U. S. SENATE

Washington, March 24.—The Four-Power Pacific Treaty was ratified to-day by the Senate. The vote on ratification was 67 to 27.

CATTLE EMBARGO WAS DISCUSSED

Statement by British Minister of Agriculture

Question Ruled Out by the Speaker of Commons

London, March 24.—(Canadian Press Cable)—A question asked in the House of Commons yesterday pertaining to the embargo against Canadian store cattle started a lively discussion.

The Minister of Agriculture, Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, stated he was satisfied there was no foot and mouth disease among the Canadian herds, but it was prevalent in other countries. He could not agree that the free importation of store cattle from Canada would reduce the cost of living and added that if store cattle were imported from Canada there would be fewer store cattle bred in Great Britain.

Discussion.

The Minister was asked as to when the Government would allow discussion in the House on the report of the Royal Commission which investigated and recommended removal of the embargo. He replied that he was quite willing to have the report discussed, but the question was one for the Leader of the House to answer.

A member wanted to know how the British farmers would be affected as suggested by the Minister if the importation of Canadian cattle would not lower the price of meat, but the question was stopped by the Speaker.

ADVERTISEMENTS ON THE BACKS OF POSTAGE STAMPS

London, March 24.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The Postal Department which recently invited tenders for advertisements on postage stamps, has now launched a new idea for raising revenue by inviting tenders for advertisements on the backs of postage stamps.

ARMISTICE PLAN.

Constantinople, March 23.—The British commissioner to-day handed to the Grand Vizier, Tewfik Pasha, a collective note from the Allied Powers outlining the proposition for an armistice between the Turks and Greeks in Asia Minor. A similar note from Lord Curzon, British Foreign Secretary, was handed to the Nationalist representative for transmission to Ankara, the seat of the Nationalist Government.

RENT AGITATION CAUSES DEATH

Fatal Result Attends Vera Cruz Contest

Vera Cruz, Mex., March 24.—A demonstration by Syndicalists against high rent ended yesterday in the shooting to death of a woman tenant, the wife of a Spanish merchant.

The Syndicalists have refused to pay more than two per cent of the assessed value of the property rented and have come in almost daily clash with the authorities recently.

A group of Syndicalists gathered yesterday in front of the Merchant's home and one climbed to the window ledge to attach a red flag. The merchant's wife shoved him off and his comrades fled.

The Spanish merchants closed their stores to-day as a protest.

POPULAR OFFICER DIED THIS MORNING

Major Britton, D.S.O., of Work Point Barracks, Was War Veteran

Major James Capell Britton, D.S.O., officer commanding A Company, Royal Canadian Machine Gun Corps at Work Point Barracks, died this morning at the Jubilee Hospital of pneumonia following influenza. The late officer was born in England thirty-eight years ago, and had served with much distinction during the great war. Leaving Scotland early in the war in command of a company of the 5th Regt. Western Cavalry, he was later posted, at the special request of Brigadier-General Hillman, to the command of the 30th Company, 4th Brigade Machine Gun Corps, serving in that branch of the service in France until the end of the war. On the formation of the Canadian Permanent Machine Gun Brigade, in January, 1920, he was placed in command of No. 1 Company, and at the time of his death was commanding A Company at Work Point. Major Britton was mentioned in despatches in 1917 and 1918, and was awarded the Distinguished Service Order. He is survived by his widow, residing at Esquimalt.

The funeral, with full military honors, will be held from the residence to-morrow morning at 10.30, proceeding to St. Paul's Garrison Church Esquimalt, where Rev. Dean Quinlan will conduct the services at 10.45. Interment will be made in the military cemetery at Esquimalt.

OBITUARY RECORD

The remains of the late William Alfred Vise were removed from the Thomson Funeral Home to his late residence, 1257 Basil Avenue, from where the funeral will take place to-morrow at 3 o'clock. Flowers left at the house until 2.30 o'clock will be delivered. Dr. Butler will officiate at the services.

The funeral of the late Joachim Anthony de Macedo has been arranged to take place on Monday morning from the residence, 1028 Fort Street. The cortege will leave at 8.45 and fifteen minutes later mass will be celebrated at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Rev. Father Wood will officiate. The arrangements are with the Thomson Funeral Home.

The remains of the late Mrs. Mary Bertucci, who passed away at her residence on Sunday morning, were laid to rest yesterday morning, the cortege leaving the Thomson Funeral Home at 8.45 o'clock, and fifteen minutes later full requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father Wood. There were many friends present at the service, the casket and hearse being covered with many beautiful floral tributes. Very Rev. Father Leternie, V.G., officiated at the graveside. The following acted as pallbearers: N. Bertucci, F. Bertucci, A. J. Brady, D. J. Kennedy, J. J. Belford and J. J. Taylor, representing the Veterans of France. Interment was made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

There passed away yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital Veronica Mary Banks, the thirteen-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Banks, of 945 View Street. The funeral will take place Saturday, the cortege leaving the Sands Funeral chapel at 10.40 o'clock, and ten minutes later services will be held at St. Andrew's Cathedral, and interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Eliza Darley, wife of Mr. Richard Darley, of 2963 Delatere Street, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock at the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. Mr. Daly will officiate and interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Maris Hale, took place at St. Peter's, Quinlan, Duncan, yesterday. The Rev. F. L. Stephenson officiated, and owing to the kindness of her old friends of the choir, the service was fully choral. The pallbearers were Messrs. Jaynes, Alexander, Day and W. Bazett from the Cowichan district, and Major G. Sisman and J. Q. Gillan of Esquimalt. Many beautiful floral tributes from Cowichan and Victoria friends covered the casket.

The funeral of the late Benjamin Taverner, who passed away at his home, 374 Caledonia Avenue, yesterday morning, will take place from the B. C. Funeral Chapel to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, where service will be conducted by the Rev. A. deB. Owen. Interment being made at Ross Bay Cemetery. The late Mr. Taverner was for thirty years an employee of The Daily Colonist as stationery engineer, and had been a host of friends who will mourn his demise.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alice Cleasby has been arranged to take place from the B. C. Funeral Chapel Saturday afternoon at 2.15, where service will be conducted by the Rev. F. H. Fatt. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The death occurred yesterday, at the residence, 479 Constance Avenue, Esquimalt, of Gordon, the two-and-a-half-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Rudd. The funeral, which is under the direction of the B. C. Funeral Co., will take place from the residence Saturday morning, at 11 o'clock. Rev. Jos. McCoy officiating. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Premier Oliver and the Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, are in Vancouver to-day going over the Pacific Highway.

The Hon. J. D. MacLean, Provincial Secretary, returned to Victoria to-day from Nelson where he has been campaigning.

The Government has passed an order-in-council extending the period during which persons can register to vote in Provincial elections. This gives persons up until May 7 to register. The court of revision will be held on the third Monday in June.

Four thousand persons here had their names removed from the voters' list because they did not vote at the last election. They will have to register again if they wish to vote.

CAMP SITE SANITATION

The Tourist Trade Group of the Chamber of Commerce at to-day's luncheon at Spencer's decided to recommend the appointment of two committees, one to look into the question of providing proper sanitary conditions in connection with camping sites and pleasure resorts around Victoria where large crowds of campers and others gather, and the other to look into the question of capitalizing the wonderful scenic attractions of the Nanoose Bay section of the Island.

MANY ALTERATIONS MADE AT WIMBLEDON

Wimbledon, March 24.—Work on the new tennis courts and grandstand at Wimbledon is being speeded up for the World's Championship in June. Thirteen courts are being laid down with special turf brought from the Solway Firth. The grandstand when complete will accommodate 14,000 people who will be able to watch the game from close quarters.

Stringers on Strike.

London, March 24.—England's thousands of lawn tennis players are disturbed by a strike which has been in progress for three weeks among racket stringers and others concerned in the making of rackets. The workers have declined to accept a reduction in wages suggested by employers in view of the lower cost of living. Delivery to retailers, which usually begins early in the season, will be delayed, it is said, and repairs are at present impossible.

BELGIAN KILLED IN OCCUPIED GERMANY

Brussels, March 24.—A Belgian lieutenant in uniform was shot several times and killed yesterday by four young civilians while riding in a tramway car between Rahorst and Walsum, in the occupied area near Dusseldorf.

A German police officer was killed in the same vicinity a couple of days ago by a Belgian gentleman and the Belgian authorities believe the murder of the lieutenant was an act of reprisal.

NIAGARA GORGE ROPE WALKING IS FORBIDDEN

Niagara Falls, March 24.—The English girl who has announced that on June 15 she will walk across the Niagara Gorge on a tight rope will not do any such thing, Mayor McWell M. Thompson said to-day. The Mayor states that under no circumstances will he issue a permit for any attempts to duplicate Blondin's feat.

NEW BRUNSWICK LIQUOR CONTROL SYSTEM URGED

Fredericton, N. B., March 24.—Dr. D. D. McCurry, St. John County, a member supporting the Government, declared during the budget debate in the Legislature yesterday that the time was here when in the interest of progress some new system of retail distribution of liquor in New Brunswick must be undertaken. Prohibition, he declared, was an academic theory, impracticable of successful operation in the interests of temperance, as results in this province had shown.

WIFE AND HUSBY TO MAKE UP AT BALL GAME

San Francisco, March 24.—Nellie Schramm waited a divorce from William Schramm.

"We will set the case for April 4," Judge Graham said.

"That's the first day of the ball season," the pretty plaintiff said.

"You a fan?" asked the judge, who is one himself.

"Uh-huh," was the answer.

"Are you?" said the court, turning to the husband.

"I'll say so."

"All right," suggested Judge Graham, "why not make up and go to the ball game instead?"

They agreed, and April 4 will be the guests of Judge Graham at the opening of the Coast League season.

FOX FARM HERE TO PRODUCE BEST FURS, EXPERT SAYS

Government Research Scientist Investigates Conditions Here

The fox farm established in Saanich to which allusion was made in The Times recently will produce fur equal to any produced in the East, said Dr. W. G. Church, animal pathologist of the Fox Research Station, Prince Edward Island, who arrived here to investigate local fox conditions.

Dr. Church said that he does not think there is anything in the claim that the Atlantic sea breezes are of such a quality that they alone can produce the best fur. After observing atmospheric conditions here, Dr. Church said that there is no reason why the fur from here will not be as valuable as that from Eastern farms.

The fox death rate has been cut down during the last six years as a result of the research work into foxes' diseases and foxes' diet conducted by Dominion Government experts, Dr. Church said. He explained that in the early days of fox farming many of the animals died from intestinal and parasitic infections, but now these diseases have been conquered.

Dr. Church announced that all information on the feeding and care of foxes can be obtained from G. Ennis Smith, dietitian of the Dominion Government Research Laboratory at Ottawa, who has entirely remodelled the systems of feeding foxes in captivity and brought it down to a science.

Dr. Church interviewed Dr. Warnock, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, on fox farming in B. C. Latest reports show that while there is only one farm as yet on Vancouver Island there are a number on the Mainland and altogether they have 150 foxes in captivity being used for breeding, for fur. In Prince Edward Island last year fox farming produced a revenue of $1,240,000 which is nearly as much as the fish and dairy production of that Province combined. Out of the 573 fox farms in Canada, 306 are on Prince Edward Island.

Dr. Warnock said that with conditions here he believes are such that if Vancouver Island emulates

When Cartier Discovered the St. Lawrence in 1535

Nature began to Construct many Canadian Homes

Nature requires from 75 to 300 years to provide timber suitable for building purposes. Man's neglect to provide adequate protection by paint and varnish will destroy her handiwork in less than 25 years. Much of the timber which was beginning its growth when Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence has already decayed beyond repair in our buildings, fences and furniture because of lack of protection through paint and varnish.

Cartier's discoveries and Nature's patient provision have become your heritage. Canada's timber resources, if carefully husbanded, will provide building material for scores of years to come; if cut down recklessly to replace wood which has decayed through neglect, they will soon disappear. Paint and varnish are cheaper than timber. Paint can be produced in a few months.

Forests take centuries to mature. Paint is easily obtained; the supply of good timber is already falling short of the demand. By adequately protecting your property with paint and varnish you are not only saving repair bills and replacement costs for yourself; you are rendering a national service as well.

"Save the surface and you save all" Paint & Varnish

TO-DAY it costs less to paint than it did. The cost of materials has led in the downward economic trend of manufactured products. But no matter what it costs, the fact remains that it always costs more not to paint than to paint. Rust and rot go on until you check them. The logical time to paint and varnish is NOW.

An Exceptional Collection of Charming Spring Hats at $8.75

A Special Event Featured for Saturday's Selling

The smart style evident in each of the attractive models in this assortment of women's hats will go exceedingly well with the trim sport and street apparel in vogue for Spring. Differing as widely as possible from the hats that have preceded them, Spring's originalities are blithesome in coloring and bright with the glazed textures of new braids and ornaments.

Flowers are used with almost as prodigal a hand as Nature; they mingle with grasses and feathery sprays on many of the hats; they are closely banked in nosegay effects on others, and fruits lend their colorings to the ensemble, glazed and lacquered to great brilliance.

ASKS ABOUT MINERS OF NOVA SCOTIA

Ottawa, March 24.—A series of questions referring to conditions among the miners of Nova Scotia has been placed on the order paper of the Commons by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member, Centre Winnipeg. Mr. Woodsworth has given notice of his intention to ask the Ministry:

"What steps, if any, are being taken to secure for the Nova Scotia miners a fair day's pay for a fair day's work?"

LIST OF UNEMPLOYED.

Vancouver, March 24.—Unemployed men and women registered by the Provincial Employment Bureau total 8,497, according to official figures announced here. More than half of this number are resident in Vancouver and the surrounding district. In Victoria and district, 1,507 are registered.

INTRODUCED.

Ottawa, March 24.—Rodolphe Oulmet, who was recently elected by acclamation in Vaudreuil-Soulanges, was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

AUSTRALIA REDUCES DEFENCE SYSTEM

Expenditure Cut as General Election Approaches

(Times Correspondence.)

Melbourne, Australia, March 23.—Where Australia had 250 senior officers of the defence force ready at call to undertake the work of mobilizing her armies, she has now fewer than 180. In consequence the Government is accused of having "knocked the brains out of our citizen army."

Annual camps have been abolished for two years, training is at a standstill or done perfunctorily, and as one critic puts it, "our army and navy are in as bad a way as if they had gone to war fought a battle and been defeated disastrously."

Much of the economy is put down to the outcome of the Washington Conference, but critics of the Government point out that it was decided upon prior to the decisions reached at Washington. The fact that there is a general election pending and that taxation is very high throughout Australia, largely due to the war debt, of course, has a bearing, for no party cares to fight an election and face criticisms of overburdening taxes.

State Election.
Sydney, Australia, March 23.—The farmers' party in New South Wales has taken a leaf out of the Canadian farmers' political ledger and produced a political programme for the forthcoming election. It comprises a vigorous immigration policy; the formation of new states in the Commonwealth so as to decentralize government and do away with the domination of the country by the great cities; the removal of the railways from political control; opposition to Socialistic legislation of any kind; the removal of rent and anti-profiteering restrictions, and the removal of all price-fixing. The doing away with the arbitration courts for the settlement of labor disputes and the substitution of conciliation committees without any compulsory powers is also advocated.

In addition an extensive policy of land settlement, road-making and bush nursing for the development of country areas is given a prominent place.

Three Parties.
Three parties go to the election—the Labor Party, which is now in power by a majority of one; the Nationalists, who are really Liberals with a Tory wing, and the Farmers, who are known as the Progressives. An attempt to form a coalition of the Liberals and the Progressives has failed, though the Progressives in some districts favor the idea in order that the Government may be turned out at all costs.

The Progressives have less than a dozen members, but expect to hold the balance of power in the new Legislature.

An Unusual Sight.
Hobart, Tasmania, March 22.—The appearance of a sleepy member of the Legislature clad chastely in pyjamas astonished the State Parliament here during a bitter political fight over the loan of half a million dollars for housing.

The Assembly was in session when the bill came down from the Upper House, but there were few members in attendance. The Upper House had greatly reduced the amount of the loan and the Labor Party in the Lower House objected. It counted the House out.

Notice having been given that there was not a quorum, the whips sent out a warning and a few minutes later the House was astonished to see an independent member, Mr. Whitist, arrive in pyjamas, evidently under the impression a division was pending. Shouts of laughter made him realize his error. He was, however, too late to save the count-out and the bill lapsed.

MURDERED MAN FROM EDMONTON

Edmonton, March 24.—Chief of Police Shute has been making inquiries regarding the identity of the Daniel A. Macdonald, formerly of this city, who was brutally murdered near Seattle. Two years ago he had a complaint from Mrs. Macdonald that her husband, an elderly man had deserted her. Macdonald at that time lived in South Edmonton, but before leaving the city disposed of property worth $12,000 in the Rabbit Hills district. It was stated that he had gone to Seattle.

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER LIVER FOR OVER 4 MONTHS

When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid it is not working properly and does not supply sufficient bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and liver troubles follow among which are, sick or bilious headaches, heartburn, water brash, jaundice, floating specks before the eyes, pain under the right shoulder, coated tongue, bad breath, yellow eyes, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

quickly remove the secretions, clear away the effete and waste matter by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood.

Mrs. Alice Mehili, Napanea, Ont., writes:—"I was very badly run down for over four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day my husband brought me home a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and I had used half of it I was much better. I only used two vials and I am a different person to-day. I can safely recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to any one troubled with liver trouble."

YOUNG WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Letter Points Way Towards Relief—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

(Times Correspondence.)

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered from the time I was a school-girl, until I had taken your medicine, with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines and was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to have an operation but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother, of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."

ADDRESS ADOPTED BY THE COMMONS

Debate Was Brought to End Last Night

Closing Topics of Discussion Were Varied

Ottawa, March 24.—The Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne was adopted in the House of Commons last evening without division. The debate had lasted nine days.

The topics of debate yesterday afternoon and last evening were varied, including railways, immigration, both Oriental and European, natural resources, pensions, tariffs, woman suffrage, Prince Edward Island potatoes, and even the ghosts of Nova Scotia.

Dr. Murray MacLaren, a Conservative from St. John, and Alfred Maclean, of Prince, were as one in presenting the maritime claim that Moncton shall again be the headquarters of the Intercolonial Railway.

A Conservative from British Columbia, C. H. Dickie, of Nanaimo, came back with the sharp remark that the Conservatives were "nationalism in the debate. He spoke of 'those spooks' of Nova Scotia, sending the House into laughter by remarking that perhaps the shades of eminent statesmen of the past were walking nightly as a protest against political actions of the present.

To See.
J. L. Brown, Progressive, Lisgar, Manitoba, said the members should visit all parts of Canada and he intended to do so. He was going to the maritime provinces to look over the Intercolonial Railway and invited other members to visit the prairies and investigate the livestock industry.

Mr. Brown urged that United States millers wanted Canadian wheat, and Canadian cattle were also wanted south of the line. The market to the south was chiefly for cattle in an unfinished state, while the cattle needed in Great Britain were those in a finished state. Either of these markets must be opened for Western Canada or the livestock industry would soon be ruined. It was folly to think Canada or any other nation could become self-contained.

Embargo.
Much credit for the efforts to remove the embargo on Canadian cattle must go to Hon. Manning Doherty. Organized farmers did not agree that Canadians were indifferent toward the embargo question and urged that the official attitude of the Government should make this clear. He urged the Government to express itself on the embargo question along the same lines as the farmers had done.

Were Pleased.
A. E. Maclean, Liberal, Prince, stated that Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, speaking on the address, had intimated that some of the electors of Prince would have been as well satisfied if the Prime Minister had been defeated in North York. This was denied. If there was one constituency in which Mr. King was well regarded, it was that of Prince, and his election in North York had been hailed with delight.

$12,700 DAMAGES GIVEN BY JURY

Vancouver, March 24.—By a vote of six to two a special jury of eight yesterday afternoon awarded damages of $12,700 to the widow and family of George C. Smith in a suit against the municipalities of Richmond and South Vancouver. Smith was killed November 11, 1916, when an automobile which he was driving ploughed through an open drawbridge between the two municipalities. The majority verdict found the municipalities guilty of negligence in the matter of protection of the bridge. It also found, by a verdict of five to three, that Smith was guilty of contributory negligence.

Mr. Justice Macdonald will deliver judgment next Tuesday. Owing to the mixed verdict, counsel for the defence will probably re-argue their case before judgment is given. The jury awarded $4,000 to the widow and $8,700 to be divided equally between the five children.

FEWER DIVORCES IN NEW ZEALAND

Law Which Caused Rapid Spread Is Amended

(Times Correspondence.)

Wellington, N. Z., March 23.—For two years New Zealand has had a divorce law almost as liberal as that of Nevada in its bad old days. Now the Government here is busy with amendments.

Under the law, which was rushed through Parliament in the closing hours of a session, any couple separated for any cause for three years from one another were entitled to a divorce. Hundreds got divorces.

Then public opinion, which is old-fashioned in New Zealand on most matters, insisted on a change and petitions signed by over 50,000 persons poured in on the Government.

As a result the divorce law has now been amended so as to prevent any guilty party to a suit getting the benefit of the law of divorce dealing with the three-year period.

It is expected this will check the spread of divorce, which has of late years been very marked in this Dominion.

One Big Union.

The One Big Union has made such progress in Australia that it now numbers 300,000 members, including many of the most important unions in New Zealand.

The movement began in Australia with the Australian Workers' Union joining up. It has 120,000 members. Then the miners, waterside workers, federated gas employees and railway unions joined and after that the New Zealanders came in with many thousands of members.

Conferences are now being held to complete the preliminary organization and it is expected that before long the O. B. U. will have at least half a million members.

It abolishes the craft union, and uniting the unions into one, provides for administration by means of departments and districts.

The Australian Workers' Union recently refused to affiliate with the Moscow International, thus rebuffing the Red element in Australia, which is after all only a small minority in the Labor movement.

THE COMING CONVENTION.

Vancouver Island Boards of Trade of their individual accord and through the Provincial body should take full advantage of the wider view of progressive action which the forthcoming

Convention will undoubtedly present. There are many subjects of especial concern to this part of British Columbia that could be profitably dealt with by the general body while it is in session during the last three days of the month. Nor should it be forgotten that the support and influence of delegates who will represent Interior organizations are worth a good deal

when either Provincial or Dominion Governments are to be final arbiters in problems sponsored by the Association as a whole.

It should be, and undoubtedly will be, the object of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island to impress the gathering with the importance of and urgency for governmental action in respect of development at the Outer Wharves of this City as well as projects in other parts of the Island. There should also be a clear recital by one or more competent officials of the handicap which an inoperative section of the national railway system continues to impose upon settlement in the southeastern portion of this Island. Boards of Trade from the Mainland will appreciate the point of view that local delegates maintain upon a question of this sort and it ought not to be difficult to convince every business man that the Dominion exchequer cannot expect this part of the Canadian National Railways to pay for even as much as the maintenance of its tracks and right-of-way unless it shall make some bid for existing and prospective business.

As far as the interest of the local Chamber of Commerce is involved in the Convention it is only necessary for us to point out that the business instincts of its membership should be sufficient to bespeak a bumper attendance at every session. They will anticipate hearty co-operation and support for the various projects which immediately concern them and the least return that they can make is a demonstration of more than a passing interest in problems more further removed. The Convention in general presents an excellent opportunity to men who represent the business world of British Columbia to take a flying leap out of an atmosphere of commercial gloom upon which some people seem to thrive.

THAT EMBARGO.

If the British Minister of Agriculture imagines for one moment that the embargo against the admission of Canadian cattle into Great Britain is a dead issue he will discover that some very lively bovine apparitions will cross his path until the existing restriction has been has said that Tariff Reform would have to be dropped by the Party which his father led for so many years.

OUR BOULEVARDS.

Victoria has long been proud of the boulevards which provide the emerald frame for her magnificent thoroughfares; but it has to be related that these pleasant strips of green will lose much of their beauty if they are to be turned into playgrounds.

We do not suggest the necessity for a general "keep off the grass" ordinance. None the less it would be advisable if the teachers at the various schools were to remind their youthful charges that much damage is being done to several sections of these costly decorative plots through their use for some of the more rigorous forms of recreation. Well-trodden short cuts in one or two parts of the city similarly indicate that those who have long passed the 'teen age are not showing that respect for the greensward that they should. We merely drop the hint in the hope that it may stimulate just the small amount of general co-operation which is necessary to preserve the scheme.

MR. TAVERNER.

With a warm tribute to his honorable service and his good citizenship we share the feelings of regret at the passing of Mr.

Benjamin Taverner which The Colonist so appropriately expressed in its editorial columns

this morning. The late Mr.

Taverner was a loyal employee of our morning contemporary for many years and his death will be genuinely mourned by those who had been associated with him in the calling to which he devoted the greater part of his life.

"LETTERS FROM THE FRONT."

A second volume of "Letters from the Front, 1914-1919" relating to the officers of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who served in the recent war has just been issued by that institution. The contents of the first volume, which was printed a year ago, comprised a number of interesting letters received from those officers while they were on active service. The book now issued contains biographical sketches and the war records of all the members of the bank's staff who enlisted in the various services, including citations from The London Gazette in cases where decorations were won. Like the first volume it is excellently bound, printed and illustrated and forms an interesting contribution to the chronicles of the great history-making conflict which came to an end three years ago. The action of The Canadian Bank of Commerce in so strikingly commemorating the gallantry of its many officers in the war will be widely appreciated.

IT MAY COME.

It is not often that The Liverpool Daily Post and Mercury goes astray when it attempts to interpret American sentiment towards European affairs. It has never got out of breath in proclaiming that the United States Government would be bound to take a more practical interest in the business that is transacted on the other side of the Atlantic. And while it may have extracted a little too much consolation out of the United States' demand for payment of her account in respect of the Rhine, it is possible that the action which our neighbors have taken in this particular will set continental Europe thinking in such a manner as to bring her into the frame of mind when a little advice from both Great Britain and the United States in relation to militaristic expenditures will be accepted as a quid pro quo for more co-operative effort to settle those problems from which the republic, after all, cannot entirely escape.

The Post and Mercury puts it this way:

"The real importance of America's request lies in the fact that it is the first step in a policy that eventually may force her to take the race. It can be taken for granted that the American people have as much vanity as any other; but until the conversion process has been carried to further limits it will be some time before the United States Government will get its instructions to do what Europe wants because Europe has at last accepted America's instruction or advice. It would be a magnificent thing for the economic world if a Washington

Conference to deal with the subject of European debts could be arranged. The Post and Mercury goes so far as to believe that even this desirable development has reached the realm of more than hopeful speculation.

But if it really wants to add to its own comfort it can advocate a line of policy for Europe that would put an end to those dangerous alliances which produce nothing but expenses and war.

It can even help to persuade

France that Germany is no longer the cock of the walk and would be less able or inclined to embark upon another war of conquest once the United States could be joined as a plaintiff against the forces that continue to rattle the sabre. She will not consent to that until she has been convinced that her association with European affairs in a commercial way are in no danger of infection from the fighting germ.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Small wonder that the decent forces of Labor in South Africa made haste to disclaim all responsibility for recent incidents!

One of the ten "Health Week"

hints reads as follows: "Eating is largely a habit; eat only when you are hungry." If this is in the form of a motion it is seconded and carried without a dissenting voice.

Mr. C. H. Dickie, the Federal member for Nanaimo, expressed the hope in the House of Commons yesterday that the national Government would absorb the Pacific Great Eastern Railway

in the country's system. There does not seem to have been any great rush to fulfill the Island members' hopes.

There is a growing sense of hope among the Foreign Ministers of Great Britain, France and Italy that there will soon be peace in Asia Minor. Meanwhile a recent announcement had it that the little war between the Greeks and Turks would soon be resumed with more vigor than ever.

LOCAL I.O.D.E. HEAR OF INDIA AND ITS MANY PROBLEMS

General Sir Percy Lake Addressed Municipal Chapter; Officers Elected

General Sir Percy Lake, K. C. B., who commanded the forces in Mesopotamia during the late war, and was Chief of the General Staff in India from 1912 to 1915, gave a most interesting address on India and her problems before the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., in an annual session yesterday afternoon. His intensely interesting address, which threw much light upon a number of religious and political phases of life in the Indian Empire, was the concluding item upon a heavy agenda.

Officers Elected.
 The nomination committee announced the election of the following officers for the ensuing year, all the officers with the exception of the standard-bearer being filled by acclamation: Regent, Mrs. Curtis Campson; first vice-president, Mrs. Andrew Wright; second vice-regent, Mrs. P. Hodges; secretary, Mrs. David Miller; treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Mayhew; Echoes secretary, Mrs. J. C. Barnacle; organizing secretary, Mrs. E. S. Hasell; educational secretary, Miss A. B. Cooke; standard-bearer, Mrs. Gordon Smith. A standing vote of thanks was accorded to the retiring officers for their services during the past year.

President's Address.

Mrs. Sampson in her presidential address reviewed the activities of the past year, thanking the officers and members for their loyalty and co-operation, and in conclusion said:

"The need of optimism was never so great as now. Faith in our City, Faith in our Dominion, Faith in the Empire. Hand in hand with this optimism should go an equal determination to encourage every means of benefiting humanity, both morally and physically. May I beg you not to slacken in your patriotic endeavors, and in your wonderful local work, not to lose sight of the spiritual aim of the great organization to which we belong; that in our union is our strength, so that when occasions of great national importance arise we may present an undivided front. The heritage that has been left us we must guard, and teach our children its value, that never in the coming centuries their hearts may fail them, and their hands grow weak; instilling the principles of loyalty to God and our King, always bearing in mind our motto, 'One Flag, One Throne, One Empire'."

Mrs. Nichol Present.

Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Honorary Provincial Regent, who attended the afternoon session, voiced her congratulations to the Order in Victoria upon its splendid achievements of the past year as set out in the annual report. She was presented with a bouquet of sweet peas and violets by Mrs. Curtis Sampson, who in turn was presented with a lovely basket of Spring flowers by Mrs. A. F. Griffiths on behalf of the Chapter. Bouquets were also presented to Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Mayhew.

A resolution from the Camosun Chapter, to the effect "that in the near future some entertainment on a large scale be held, all Chapters participating in order to raise Victoria's full quota to the War Memorial Fund," was passed. This idea will be carried out with the concert to be given by the Scots Guards Band, which will be in Victoria in May in the course of a Canadian tour. Two concerts will be given by the band on May 25, and on the following day the band will give a concert, especially for children, and in the evening will provide the music for a grand Empire ball. The band's tour is in aid of the funds of the G. W. V. A. and the I. O. D. E. share of the proceeds will be devoted to the Order's War Memorial Fund.

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN

Social & Personal

Miss Blanche Richards, of Craigdarroch, was a bridge hostess yesterday afternoon.

Miss Kathleen Quilty, of New Westminster, is spending a holiday in the city, the guest of friends.

Mr. Alva Lowery has returned from the prairie and is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Hill, Gorge Road.

Mrs. F. D. Little, of Rockland Avenue, who is entertaining at bridge this afternoon, was also a bridge hostess on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Percy Fitzsimmons of this city is visiting in Vancouver for two weeks, the guest of the Misses Robertson, Burnaby Street.

Among the Winnipeg visitors who are enjoying Winter golf in Victoria is Mrs. K. C. Allen, who last year was lady golf champion for the province of Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. W. Hunter, of Winipeg, have purchased the residence of Dr. A. Clarke, Superior Street, and have arrived in the city to take up their residence in their new home.

Mrs. G. Gillard and her daughter Helen, of Merritt, B.C., who have been the guests of Mrs. E. Yarwood, Leo Avenue, for the past few days, left yesterday for Bakersfield, California.

Miss Winnifred Howard, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howard, Fowl Bay Road, left this afternoon to resume her duties in the Resthaven Hospital at Port Angeles.

The entertainment planned by the Women's Canadian Club in honor of Madame Jeffre and her daughter will take the form of a reception to be held in the Empress ballroom on Wednesday afternoon next from 4 until 6 o'clock.

The dance which was to have been given by the officers at Work Point Barracks to-night is indefinitely postponed owing to the death of Major Britton, officer commanding the Royal Canadian Machine Gun Brigade.

About twenty friends of Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Burgess took them by surprise on Saturday night and invaded their home, garbed in a motley array of costumes, the majority representing "His Times." The evening was spent, dancing forming the chief amusement.

The Unique Club held a progressive five hundred party last evening at the home of Mrs. Waller, 1055 Clare Street, when eight tables were in progress. The winners of the ladies' prizes were Mrs. Thomson, Mrs. Adams and Miss Dolly Muckle, and of the gentlemen's, Mr. Russell, Mr. McNaughton and Mr. Townsend. The next game will be held at the home of Mrs. Rogers, 1950 Redfern Street.

A very successful silver tea was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. Bryson, 1151 Pandora Ave., under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Great War Veterans' Association. The hostess was assisted in pouring tea by Mesdames B. O. Taylor, Lewis and Wilkerson. During the afternoon musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. W. D. Todd, Mrs. E. Yeo, Miss Isabel Taylor and Mr. W. G. Bryson. A substantial sum was raised for the Auxiliary's work.

Following the annual meeting of the Municipal Chapter, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, the regent, entertained at tea at the Empress Hotel when her guests included Mrs. W. C. Nichol, General Sir Percy and Lady Lake, Lady Barnard, Mrs. Henry Croft, Mrs. Andrew Wright, Mrs. E. S. Hasell, Mrs. A. F. Griffiths, Mrs. W. H. Belson, Mrs. J. C. Barnacle, Mrs. David Miller, Mrs. F. H. Mayhew, Mrs. W. W. Brenzner, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. Hugo Beaven, Miss A. B. Cooke, and Mrs. H. P. Hodges.

An entertaining and instructive lantern lecture entitled "Holiday Trips in B.C." showing a number of views of Victoria and Vancouver Island was given by Mrs. E. M. Cuppage, and Miss Forbes of Victoria, Thursday night at the Woman's Building in Vancouver. The ladies took their own photographs and made their own slides. Full of human interest as well as scenic beauty, the lecture which has already been given twice in Victoria was an outstanding success. The views included besides Vancouver Island, a series of the Okanagan fruit lands, the picturesque Pacific Great Eastern Railway, Kettle Valley, the Provincial Garibaldi Park, and an excursion by way of Prince Rupert to the Hot Springs at Lakelse.

KUMTUKS CLUB TEA TO-MORROW

The Kumtuks Club will hold its first social gathering of the year to-morrow afternoon at the Victoria College, Craigdarroch, by kind permission of the Board of School Trustees. The affair will take the form of a tea for members only, and will commence at 3.30 o'clock.

An attractive programme has been arranged, the musical numbers including songs by Mrs. E. Brunswick Shaw, Miss Madeline Bradshaw and Miss Ringland, and a violin solo by Miss Kathryn Bradshaw. A number of guessing games have also been arranged, and Miss Mason will read the tea cups.

INSTITUTE HELD BIRTHDAY PARTY

Esquimalt Women Held Enjoyable Social at Sailors' Club

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent yesterday at the Sailors' Club, when the members of the Esquimalt Women's Institute held a birthday tea in celebration of their first anniversary.

The tables were prettily decorated with daffodils and pussy-willows and laden with delicious cakes, with plenty of candies for the wee folk. The many members and guests present showed their appreciation of the successful effort of Mrs. H. Clark who, as convener, had arranged the tea and programme. At Mrs. Clark's request, Mrs. Ricketts, President of the Institute, took the chair and addressed a few words of welcome to the gathering, all present joined in singing the "Ode."

Mrs. Todd's beautiful voice was heard to great advantage in "May Morning," "My Dear Soul," and, as an encore the always welcome "Happy Song." She also gave a humorous monologue in "darkie" dialect. Mrs. Gaiser, of Gasquet, sang "The Heart" very sweetly, and Miss Mutch, followed with "The Violet," which also proved acceptable to the audience. Mrs. B. P. R. sang "A Lesson With the Fan," and being called on for an encore gave "The Little Umpire."

Mrs. Gordon Hardie and Mrs. Yeo kindly acted as accompanists. The home-town roll call proved great fun, some very unexpected items of interest being mentioned in connection with the home-towns of some members. The popularity of Scotland as a birthplace was notable, especially in the neighborhood of Glasgow and Greenock.

The guessing competition was very popular, effort being stimulated by the prize of interest being provided by Mrs. H. Clark and Mrs. Pomroy. The first prize, a boudoir cap, was won by Miss Mutch, Mrs. Yeo winning the second prize, a box of handkerchiefs. The prizes offered by Mrs. R. P. Matheson in the children's competition were won by May Ford, a doll; and Johnnie Davies, a picture book. Mrs. Crocker, President of the Victoria Centre Institute, made an encouraging little speech of congratulation, which was followed by Mrs. Norris, Mrs. Peden and other ladies from the Centre who were welcome guests.

The members of the Institute are greatly indebted to Mrs. Rams who, when owing to unforeseen circumstances the arrangements for another happy tea through, generously came forward with the tea at the Sailors' Club and was extremely kind and helpful in many ways.

MUSICAL CLUB'S TEA ARRANGED

Attractive Programme at the Home of Mrs. F. D. Little To-morrow

At the monthly musical tea to be held at the charming home of Mrs. F. D. Little, "Highlands," Rockland Avenue, to-morrow afternoon, the Ladies' Musical Club will be favored with a most attractive programme. Miss Marian Heming will be among those assisting and musical students will doubtless welcome this opportunity of hearing her interpretation of two Beethoven sonatas, of which composer she is a gifted exponent. Mrs. F. J. Bellby will read a paper on "The Music of Shakespeare," prepared by Miss Macdonald.

The musical part of the programme will be as follows:

- (a) My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair..... Haydn
- (b) Thou Art Like Unto a Flower..... Schumann
- Mrs. Lewtas:
- Piano—Allegretto from Sonata Opus 10, No. 2..... Beethoven
- Rondo a Capriccio, Opus 1, No. 29..... Beethoven
- Miss Marian Heming:
- Cello—(a) Reverie..... Goltzerman
- (b) Schumierlied..... Squire
- Mrs. Hargreaves:
- Vocal—Lise's Lullaby..... Lane
- Vocal—Harvest..... Therese del Riego
- Piano—Prelude in G..... Rachmaninoff
- Miss Monica Davis:
- Vocal—There Is No Death..... O'Hara
- Miss Hartman:
- Mrs. A. J. Gibson and Mrs. Percy James will be the accompanists.

HOSPITAL BOARD

DELIGHTED WITH SUN ROOM PROJECT

Commends Work of Florence Nightingale Chapter, I. O. D. E.

In their efforts to raise funds for the erection of a sun-room for the use of tuberculous patients at the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, the members of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I. O. D. E., have been very much encouraged by the receipt of the following letter written by George McGregor, President of the Hospital Board of Directors to the regent, Mrs. H. F. Crowe:

"Relative to the proposed sunroom for the Tuberculosis Ward in the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital. At the last regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the above Hospital, the writer was authorized to write and acknowledge the proposed gift."

"I can hardly find words to express the deep appreciation, and feelings, of myself and the Board, on behalf of those poor unfortunate who are the victims of this terrible affliction, for this most excellent gift. There has been so much talk about this disease in the past and so little done, that the action of your Committee surely will be greatly appreciated by those who are suffering, and in my judgment there could be nothing done of greater benefit to the patients of our hospital. I am sure that those who make the sacrifice in doing this work will be rewarded for the splendid efforts they have undertaken."

"I might also add that the Board will render every possible assistance to your Committee and Chapter in this work. Again thanking you on behalf of the Hospital Board and hoping that we shall see this sun-room a reality in the near future."

Mrs. H. K. Prior, convener of the Chapter's Committee which has this particular work in hand, is delighted at the interest and sympathy shown in the undertaking, and feels confident that the sunroom when erected will be in every way worthy of the Order, the hospital, the promoters of the idea and all those who are generously assisting in its materialization.

LUX
 For Soft Blankets!

Famous blanket manufacturers recommend Lux because the thin, satin-like flakes, specially made by our own exclusive process, dissolve so instantly and thoroughly that no particle of solid soap remain to stick to the wool to yellow or rot it.

The best way to wash blankets:

Use Lux in the proportion of two tablespoonfuls of Lux to half a gallon of water. Whisk into a thick lather in very hot water. Add cold water until suds are luke warm. Work your blankets up and down in the suds repeatedly through the soiled spots. Do not rub. Rinse the blankets in three lukewarm waters. Pass through a loose wringer or squeeze the water out. Do not twist. Dry in the shade in a moderate temperature.

Lux is sold only in sealed packets—dust-proof!

WHY JIMMIE SKUNK LAUGHED

Mr. Fox stopped and looked back at Jimmie Skunk. As a rule he did not care to be within speaking distance of him, but now he thought it was a black and white pussy.

When he discovered who it was, Mr. Fox started to trot along and then he heard Jimmie laughing, and Mr. Fox is very inquisitive, so he stopped and looked back again.

"What is the joke?" he asked, being careful to step backwards as he spoke, for one can never be sure of Jimmie Skunk's temper.

But Jimmie was feeling good natured and afraid of hardly any one. So he sat down and faced Mr. Fox and kept on laughing.

Mr. Fox was getting more curious every minute. "What is it that pleases you so much, Jimmie?" he asked.

"I'll tell you as soon as I can stop laughing," said Jimmie. "You will laugh, too, when you hear about it."

At last he was able to talk without laughing and Mr. Fox, who now was so curious that he forgot to be careful, came nearer to Jimmie and sat down on the ground to listen.

"You see, I was out quite early, looking for grasshoppers. It is easy to find them in the early morning, when the grass is heavy with dew. It is just like picking berries."

Mr. Fox began to fidget, for he did not see anything funny about this, and his time was too precious to waste listening to senseless hurries.

But it was no use to try to hurry Jimmie Skunk. That Mr. Fox was well enough; so he tried to be patient and listen.

"Yes, I was picking up my breakfast before sunrise, in a field, when I happened to look back and there was Mr. Dog running toward me. He saw me—that I was sure—and though I am not really afraid of him I always think it is good judgment to keep some distance from him. Mr. Fox's ears pricked up when Jimmie mentioned Mr. Dog, and he was looking around in rather an anxious way."

"Yes, I am sure you were wise to run away from him," he said.

"Oh, I did not run," said Jimmie. "I just meandered towards a clump of bushes under a tree, and by the time I got there Mr. Dog was coming on the run."

"I was well hidden when he reached the tree, and without looking on the ground at all he began jumping about and barking, looking up into the tree all the time. You see, he thought I was a black and white cat."

"I can easily understand how he could be fooled," said Mr. Fox, beginning to see the joke on Mr. Dog.

"Well, you never saw such hopping and skipping as Mr. Dog did under that tree and never up into the tree anywhere but up in the tree branches trying to get a glimpse of that black and white cat he was sure must have climbed up there to escape him."

"After awhile I got tired of sitting there and wanted to get home, so when Mr. Dog danced near me, I stepped out from my hiding place and, of course, he came after me. He was some surprised dog in another sec-

Liver Pains

Pains under the shoulder blades tell of liver derangements.

Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthful action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefited generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

STATE MEDICINE WOULD SOLVE MANY PRESENT DAY ILLS

Drs. H. E. Young, W. Bapty and L. K. Poyntz Speak on Preventive Medicine

A trenchant appeal for state medicine, not a glorified branch of the civil service, for people will never give up the selection of their own doctors, but for state hospitals, nursing centres and public nurses—to carry the religion of health into the home. Under this scheme you would be required, with your wife and children, to undergo examination every year. We would tell you what was wrong and how to remedy it, and then it would be up to you.

"It would cost you less. Do you know that out of 11,000 children examined in the rural schools of this Province last year 94 per cent. had physical defects of one form or another? The large insurance companies of Great Britain have adopted this system of examination, and they found by it that they can add an average of four years to the lives of their policy-holders. If insurance companies can do it, why cannot we?"

Religion of Health.

Few and Larger Hospitals.

"Stop the leak. Twenty-five per cent. of patients who now go to the hospital for treatment should never have been allowed to reach there. Conserve the bed space in our hospitals, let us have fewer and larger hospitals, that will serve the whole district."

Why is it that the cure and treatment of disease is always before the public eye, but that prevention never occurs to the public? Stop that leak. Instead of living on the capital of health, stop and take stock of your-

THE COUGH WITH THAT TICKLING SENSATION

A little tickling in the throat; now and then a dry, hacking cough; you think it is not bad enough to bother about, but every hack makes a breach in the system, strains the lungs and prepares the way for more serious trouble.

How many people have lost a good night's rest by that nasty, tickling, irritating sensation in the throat? The dry, harsh cough keeps you awake, and when you get up in the morning you feel as if you had had no rest at all.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP is just the remedy you require to stop that irritating, tickling cough on account of its soothing, healing and expectorant properties.

Mrs. P. Johnson, Fort Alberni, B.C., writes: "I have suffered for years, on and on, with a tickling cough. I could not sleep nights and had to sit up in bed to get relief. In fact, I coughed so I used to vomit. I tried different doctors' prescriptions until I heard of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I tried it and found great relief, after I had taken the first bottle and have not been troubled since. I shall always keep it in the house."

Be sure and get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. Price, 35c. and 60c. a bottle; put up only by The T. M. Burn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. (Advt.)

I Needed Something To Build Me Up And That's Exactly What did in a most remarkable and satisfactory way, writes Jos. Watson, 246 Colony Street, Winnipeg. A rundown condition, tired out feeling loss of appetite, sluggishness, indigestion, etc., are frequently followed by more serious complications unless checked at once. Get Tanlac at any good druggists.

self. There is no reason why the average life of our citizens cannot be increased ten years. Let us have an educated public opinion back of the Government in health matters, and we will soon see results," continued the speaker, who closed with comparative statistics for fatalities from disease in the South African and late wars.

In war it was found that one-third of the nation was unfit for service, and of this number 80 per cent. were unfit from causes preventable in childhood, stated the speaker. In clinical treatment for venereal diseases men could be cured for $50, whereas mental defects in the asylums cost the ratepayers $400 a year for eight years, each, or a total of $312,000 for the 160 of such cases at present in the Essondale institution.

Mentally Unfit.

As far as this unfit on mentality was concerned, the speaker continued, between forty and fifty patients were being admitted every year to the Essondale establishment, and the number was increasing with the expansion of population.

The present condition of health matters was costing the ratepayers more than an efficient state service of state medicine, and was not meeting nor reducing the spread of disease, Dr. Young said. The economic loss of a man through ill-health, to the state, was rated at $500 per man per year, and for every such man numerous dependents became a charge upon the state. B. C. was blessed with an unexpected population, and plenty of fresh mountain water, but notwithstanding that the economic loss from preventable disease was terrific, stated the speaker, who advocated pre-natal care, care of the child, at school and all through the early stages of life, with equal rights for the children of every man, irrespective of pecuniary advantages of the father.

In the year 1919 a wave of small-pox came to the coast, costing this Province between $40,000 and $50,000, and this would have been prevented for an expenditure of some $400 in serum for vaccination, added the speaker.

In closing Dr. Young thanked the gathering for the large and attentive attendance.

Dr. Poyntz.

Dr. L. K. Poyntz opened the addresses of the evening by a brief and clear resume of the development of medical research work along the lines of preventive medicine. Medicine should be construed in the meaning that it was the study of the cure and prevention of disease, he said. The contagiousness of disease had long been well known, continued the speaker, who dealt in passing with the organism of bacteria, the single celled link between animal and vegetable life. Not all bacteria were parasitical, some had useful purposes, industries even being based in many cases on bacteriological agencies.

The speaker traced the cause of the Black Plague, from fleas on rats, and the growth of preventive medicine in England. Preventive medicine could be divided into three phases: environment, isolation and education, the speaker said. Dr. Poyntz paid tribute to the research work of men who had spent years in the pest holes of the world, studying disease, and often at the risk and sacrifice of their own life. To the invention of the microscope was due the credit for much ground gained along these lines, continued the speaker.

Dr. Poyntz here cited statistics to show the terrible hold of disease on the different countries of the world, much of which was preventable, and could now be prevented. The speaker dealt in passing with yellow fever, from mosquitoes; cholera from contaminated water, typhus from dirt and infection, smallpox and other diseases which could assume the proportions of a serious plague, and had in past centuries and wars accounted for untold millions of lives. By inoculation and vaccination, most disease could now be controlled, and education paved the way towards a more complete prevention than was formerly possible.

Food Properties.

Dr. Walter Bapty, in an instructive address, covered the field of dietetics, and the spread of scientific research along lines of dieting towards prevention of disease and the maintenance of the normal state of health. The speaker told of the properties of food in relation to body requirements, the action of water soluble and fat soluble vitamins, and the necessity for the presence of each in the daily food in just the right proportion.

Proper diet gave normal health, and correct diet in the infant would build healthy children, he said. The speaker dealt in brief with scurvy, beri-beri and rickets, and other effects of mal-nutrition and lack of the necessary composition of vitamins. Improper dieting was a matter chiefly of food deficiencies, and could be corrected through care and education, he said.

Folders on vaccination, compiled by the Provincial Board of Health were distributed by graduate nurses, who acted as ushers in attendance at the gathering last night.

WHAT THE CLUBS ARE DOING

American Day, April 4.

In order that Victoria Kiwanians might carry out the International's request to hold an American Day luncheon during the week April 2-8 the directors asked the Port Angeles Club to put up the programme on April 4. This will be done, and the Stars and Stripes presented by remerton will be received formally.

Advertising Show.

The net profit of the Kiwanis advertising show at New Westminster in aid of the school playgrounds fund was $3,588.06, and gross proceeds were $6,769.60. Wm. Griffiths reported at the Kiwanis luncheon Mayor Johnston explained the money by-laws to be voted on by the ratepayers on March 30 and the meeting went on record as approving them.

Crabrook Rotarians.

Despite counter attractions the weekly attendance at the Crabrook Rotary Club luncheon was large. When dinner was served local Rotarians partook of their first meal of rubber cheese, an appetizing morsel inwardly digested. H. R. Hicks, East Kootenay commissioner for the Boy Scout movement, was a guest of the luncheon and gave a four minute talk on the formation in the district of an association, outlining the aims and objects of such body. He said it was fortunate that the Rotary Club was being formed at this time, an organization which took such an interest in all boy movements.

Nova Scotians Cast Eyes On New Schooner Puritan Being Built by Americans

(Written Specially for the Canadian Press by H. W. Jones.)

Halifax, N. S., March 24.—Most Nova Scotians regard the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose, winner of the 1921 International Fishermen's Championship Trophy, as the logical defender of the tankard for Canada this year. A "dark horse" is now building at Lunenburg and probably will compete in the elimination races off Halifax next September, when the defender will be selected, but schooner race enthusiasts of Halifax and Lunenburg pick the Bluenose as the winner of the trial contest.

As for the International races, which, in accordance with the Deed of Gift, will be held off Gloucester this year, probably in October, there is no such certainty, though many "Blue noses" predict another Canadian victory. For a while, and there is much of it these cold days, with the Bank schooners snug at their berths for the winter or else freighting South, credits the "downhome" with a good chance of winning, but goes no further.

Yanks Build New Schooner.

The Nova Scotia fisherman is proverbially cautious in his comment. And he is particularly canny when it comes to comparing the known sailing qualities of the Bluenose, which spent a season on the Banks, raced and is now on her second cargo trip to the West Indies, with the unknown sailing qualities of the fishing schooner Puritan, now building at Essex for Gloucester men who wish to avenge the Elsie, defeated by the big Lunenburg vessel in the International off Halifax last year. The exact dimensions of the Puritan are not known here, but it is generally accepted that designed by W. Starling Burgess, she will be capable of showing a clean pair of heels to most fishing vessels. And that Captain Angus Walters, Bluenose's clever little skipper, will find the new Yankee schooner a hard nut to crack. Captain Angus, home now at Lunenburg watching the sale of the fish, his vessel caught on the Banks last year, is moderately optimistic but not talkative. He says he will reserve his views until after the race is over.

Neither is W. J. Rouse, Halifax yachtman who designed the Bluenose, willing to commit himself to any definite statement, though he opines that the odds would be against a fishing vessel of the average New England type in a race with the 1921 champion. The nice question is whether or not the Puritan will embody departures from that type sufficiently radical to enable her to out-sail the Lunenburg flyer.

Bluenose Is Different.

It is generally admitted that the Bluenose is different in some material respects from the ordinary Nova Scotia fishing schooner. She is more "dead rise" (a sharper angle from keel to deck) than most of our fishermen, and is deeper and finer. True, the Bluenose sports a decided bulge amidships, made necessary by the space requirements for Nova Scotia fishing craft, many of which are freighted with fish. But the coasting trade the year round when no longer fit for the wear and tear of the Banks. But her underbody is, nevertheless, so unlike that of other vessels of the Nova Scotia fishing fleet that she has been able to demonstrate a marked superiority in windward work, generally the supreme test in sailing races.

The Puritan, too, is expected to be much sharper on the wind than the ordinary fishing vessel. Like the Bluenose, she is designed for speed as well as fishing and the ability of Mr. Burgess to produce fast sailing craft is recognized. The speedy Boston fishing schooner, Mayflower, unfortunately barred from last year's races, was built from his lines and he has made the plans for many swift yachts. Two of the boats flying the United States flag, which competed in the six metre class races in English waters last year were from his design. It is considered a certainty that the Puritan will be fast.

Depends on Weather.

Whether she will be too fast for the Bluenose remains to be seen. The Gloucester boat, built for fishing only, will be of smaller dimensions than the Bluenose, built for both freight and fishing, and the effect of this difference in size is problematical, though it seems logical to say that the larger boat in heavy weather and with the smaller in light weather.

While it is believed here that the Puritan is the probable challenger for the International Trophy, this is not regarded as a foregone conclusion.

IXION WILL ARRIVE IN PORT APRIL 3

The Blue Funnel Line steamship Ixion sailed from Yokohama March 22, and is due to arrive at this port April 3, according to word received by Henry Davidson, local agent for Dowdell & Company.

The vessel has yet to prove her worth and reports come from Gloucester that another schooner is being built at Essex which may give her a run for her money. This second vessel, Halifax hears, is designed by Thomas McManus, also of Boston, who has made the lines for a large number of fishing vessels of both the New England and the Nova Scotia fishing fleets. With at least two new vessels as entries, the United States elimination races next Autumn should furnish some excitement.

A Bad Winter.

Scarcity of freights, plenty of vessels and low prices of fish have so affected the industry that only one fishing schooner is now under construction at Lunenburg. Smith and Rhuland are building for Captain "Paddy" Mack, who helmed the Delawana to second money in the Nova Scotia 1921 elimination races, a schooner modelled somewhat after the style of the Clintonia, a speedy Nova Scotia vessel designed ten years ago by McManus, of Boston. George Rhuland, of the building firm, himself a designer, has adapted a nice set of plans upon which the vessel is being constructed, but he does not predict any remarkable speed for the schooner. She will be 120 feet over all, 107 feet waterline, 25½ feet beam, and 11 feet depth of hold. Captain Mack is a keen racing enthusiast and there is no doubt that he will have his vessel at the start-line for the Nova Scotia trials next Autumn.

Already plans are being discussed for the journeying of a large contingent of Nova Scotia enthusiasts from Lunenburg to Gloucester for the International, and it is the general hope that the wind will blow the waters feather-white off that port on race days and furnish ideal "fishermen's weather" for the revived sport of fishing schooner racing.

MARINE ENGINES IN MARKET.

Sixty-six marine engines now stored at the Alameda naval yard and at Portland and Tacoma will be sold, according to word received at the San Francisco office of the U. S. Shipping Board. The engines are part of a lot of 227 three-cylinder vertical type expansion engines purchased for ships, contract for which was cancelled after the armistice.

TO JOIN SALMON FLEET.

The American steel ships Arapahoe and Edward Sewall, purchased recently on the Atlantic coast by the Alaska Packers' Association, are en route to San Francisco to join the salmon fishing fleet which is scheduled to sail for the north next month.

FUSHIMI LEAVES COAST FOR GOOD

Big N.Y.K. Liner Making Her Adieu to North Pacific
Ports

With the departure of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Fushimi Maru this evening the big Japanese passenger and freight carrier will bid farewell to the North Pacific coast.

The Fushimi Maru is returning to Japan to be transferred to the European service for which the Fushimi and other vessels of her class were originally designed.

The fine liners Fushimi Maru, Suwa Maru, Katori Maru and Kashima Maru will not again be seen in these waters, unless there is a drastic change in the policy of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. The steamship Kaga Maru, first of the intermediate liners which will replace the larger ships on this route, is expected to reach Victoria, April 2. She has her cabin accommodations filled, and is laden with a fair cargo of general Oriental merchandise.

Viscount Inouye Sails.

Among the passengers leaving by the liner Fushimi Maru to-night will be Viscount K. Inouye, who is returning to Japan after a period of duty with the Japanese diplomatic corps at Paris. Shosaburo Hoshino and Motohito Miyasaka, Japanese silk merchants, are also booked outward by the Fushimi Maru.

The Fushimi Maru will dock here about 4 o'clock this afternoon from Seattle, and Capt. R. Shimidzu will pilot his command out to sea after dusk.

MEN'S LEADERS FOUND THEMSELVES IN A DILEMMA

London, March 24.—(Canadian Press Cable)—A conference was held yesterday between delegates from the shipbuilding unions and the Ministry of Labor on the notice given by the employers that there would be a reduction of the war bonus. The men's leaders found themselves in a dilemma, owing to a decision arrived at last week by Union shipbuilders not to take a ballot on the employers' proposals for the taking of the bonus in two instalments. There is no time now in which to take a ballot before the first cut becomes operative.

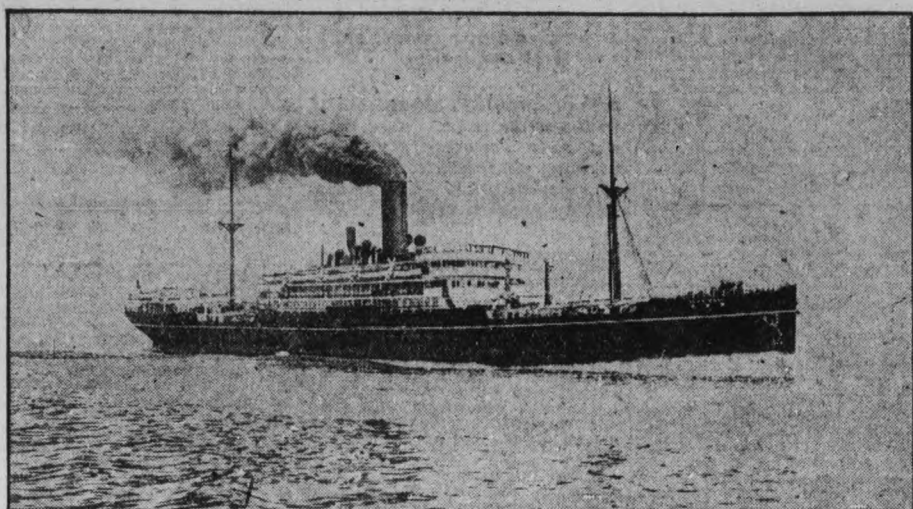

The proceedings at the conference were very lively. A sharp division of opinion was revealed among the delegates but the majority of them were not inclined to face the possibility of a stoppage of their employment. The conference was adjourned two hours in order to give the men opportunity to settle their differences, and the adjournment ended without the desired results.

N. Y. K. LINER FUSHIMI MARU

NO TRUTH TO TRANSFER REPORT. SAY OFFICIALS

"As far as we are aware there is absolutely no truth to the report," said officials of the Canadian Pacific Coastwise steamship service, when asked to-day about the rumor, purported to have originated in Victoria, to the effect that Capt. J. W. Troup had resigned and that the Canadian Pacific Railway contemplated removing its coastwise administrative offices from this port to Vancouver.

Capt. Troup, who is visiting the Far East at the present time, is expected to return by the liner Empress of Asia on April 10.

Capt. C. D. Neroutos, marine superintendent, Canadian Pacific Railway, is to-day in Seattle. The administration of the Canadian Pacific Railway coastwise service has always been at Victoria, and officials of the company here are of the opinion that the company has not the slightest intention of transferring its operating end of the coastwise business to the mainland.

MAKURA LEAVES AUCKLAND.

The Canadian-Australasian liner Makura, carrying passengers and freight, cleared from the port of Auckland, New Zealand, March 21 for Victoria and Vancouver. She is due here April 6.

BURTON HOLMES IS TAKING LITTLE TRIP ALL BY HIMSELF

Declares Roving Commissions
About the World Agree
With Him

Burton Holmes, of "Travelogue" fame, sailed by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia last night en route to the Far East.

"This is going to be a real holiday trip for me," he said. "I have been commissioned to obtain some illustrations for a complete edition of Lafcadio Hearn's writings, but it is to be in the nature of a solitary pursuit of enjoyment."

The famous traveler and lecturer carries his own moving picture equipment with him, the most unique and complete outfit imaginable, not much larger than a kodak, slung compactly in a leather case. "These are French machines," he stated. "I carry two of them, in case I drop one overboard, and two cameras for 'stills' also, for the same reason."

"This voyage will be a novelty, and I am looking forward to it, for one reason, among others, that I have no cameraman with me," he said. "In this enlightened age and age the cameraman has taken it upon himself to develop an artistic temperament. He is harder to manage than Patti, Gaili Curci and Mary Garden put together. I am myself to his finger-tips. Mr. Holmes, who looks more like a college professor than a man who has faced hardships and every sort of adventure on his wanderings over almost every part of the globe, is especially fond of Japan. He confesses a penchant for Japanese furniture and bric-a-brac, and his studio and apartment in New York is a little corner of Japan all by itself.

ACHILLES WILL COME TO PACIFIC

Big Turbine Was Turned Back to Builders For Adjustments

The fine new liner Achilles, of the Blue Funnel Line, will be placed in the North Pacific trade before the end of the year, according to information brought by officers of the steamship Hector, in port yesterday from the United Kingdom. The Achilles has been in commission, but some minor trouble developed with her turbines, and she was turned back to her builders, Scotts Shipbuilding and Engineering Co., Ltd., at Greenock.

When the Achilles is again put into commission she will make a round trip in the Liverpool-Hongkong trade and will then be sent out to the Pacific for a time, according to officers of the Hector. It was previously announced that the Achilles was destined for the North Pacific service of the Blue Funnel Line.

Another new turbine of the same type to the Achilles, recently completed in British yards for the Blue Funnel Line, is the Calchas, named after one of the Hott ships lost in the war.

LADY MINE IS HELD BY CUSTOMS

Adventurous Schooner Refitting for Another Cruise
When Seized

Vancouver, March 24.—Seized by Canadian customs officials while lying in Coal Harbor, the schooner Lady Mine, of adventurous career, is tied up in Vancouver. The boat was seized while she was refitting preparatory to another trip to the South, and according to waterfront gossip, she was destined to take another load of liquor to the South.

On her last trip the Lady Mine cleared for Ensenada with bonded liquor, but before arriving at her destination the captain alleges that the boat ran into a storm and that she was forced to jettison her cargo of liquor and put into San Francisco for repairs.

At a meeting of the newly formed Licensed Export Association, consisting of registered firms with bonded warehouses operating as export liquor men in Vancouver, which was held in the Hotel Vancouver on Tuesday last, the Lady Mine came in for discussion. At that time it was alleged that the boat was preparing to put to sea with another cargo of 1,000 cases of whisky.

It was also alleged at the meeting that the much talked of schooner was to ship the liquor from a warehouse which is not a licensed export warehouse, and many questions were asked of the liquor men who are paying license and other fees, as to why this was being allowed.

"The people through whom the liquor is to be shipped have not a provincial license and have no right in the liquor business at all," said one member of the association, "and yet they claim to have authority from Ottawa to ship another 1,000 cases, and we understand that arrangements to this end are being made."

Members of the association are taking the matter up with local and Dominion authorities, and it is possible that as the result of the accidents that invariably happen to some of the boats leaving here in bond, that a cash guarantee will be asked for all future shipments.

TAKE STEPS TO GET WORK FOR NAVAL MEN

The naval section of the Amalgamated Veterans' Association have gone on record endorsing the proposal put forward for the manning of the Provincial Game Board's boats by ex-naval members of the organization. The matter is being taken up with the authorities. The naval veterans also are communicating with the Minister of Marine, the Customs Department and the Esquimalt Naval Yard officials, recommending the filling of vacancies, wherever possible, by ex-naval men.

LOST CHICKEN

MADE BAD FRIENDS

Straying Fowl Leads Owner Into Altercation

As related before Magistrate Jay in the police court this morning, a comedy of errors led to a prosecution for assault. It was a sequel to an exciting chase after a recalcitrant chicken, followed by an altercation on top of a wood pile and threats with a poker.

J. Starret, an employee of the Victoria Wood Company, was charged with assaulting Joseph Day, son of John Day of this city. John Day gave evidence on behalf of the prosecution, testifying that one of his chickens escaped from his premises on Yates Street and strayed across several lots. Joseph Day, his son, gave chase and followed the trail of the fleeing chicken until he was halted by a wood pile in the lumber yard under which the fowl disappeared.

Starret, the accused, took up the story there, and told the court that he had been in the office of the wood yard when Mrs. Quinn, wife of the Chinese proprietor ran in saying that "white man stealing chicken." It developed that chickens were kept in the wood yard and that they had continued the dispute in the lot next door.

The incident had terminated with Day handing the much damaged chicken to Starret. Constable Drover told of being called to settle the dispute. The accused telephoned for the police at the request of the complainant, following a second meeting in the office of the lumber company, when Day seized a poker and was alleged to have invited Starret to "come on and see what you can do now."

Magistrate Jay held that an assault had been committed, and fined the accused in the sum of $10. Frank Higgins, K. C., acted for the complainant, with Percy Marchant for the defence.

WOULD CONTROL ALL SIGN BOARDS

Control of sign boards and hoardings by means of a new by-law was taken under advisement by the City authorities today when the Public Works Committee was asked to see that certain sign boards in James Bay were removed. An owner of property in the James Bay district told the committee that he objected strongly to the sign boards which he indicated were a nuisance. He suggested that the City Council draft and put into effect a by-law which would give it complete control over these hoardings.

Under the Municipal Act the Council has power to pass such a by-law and thus assume control of sign boards and their location. Under such a by-law it would apparently be possible to prevent the erection of sign boards on property in the residential sections of the City.

ACCUSED ELECT.

Before His Honor Judge Lampman in the County Court this afternoon Stanley Harvey Crech, Cecil J. Cherry and Joseph J. Cherry were committed to prison for having been previously committed for trial. Stanley Harvey Crech is charged with obtaining $150 from the Provincial Government by false pretences. Cecil J. Cherry is charged with an indecent assault. Joseph Grice is charged with procuring.

The proceedings opened at three o'clock, with J. S. Brandon for the Crown.

ANTI-VIVISECTION BODY IS GROWING

Multiplies Six Times in Membership in One Year

The fifth public meeting of the Anti-Vivisection Society was held on Thursday evening at St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, W. B. Pease presiding. The chairman spoke on the progress of the work.

The secretary reminded those present that it was just one year ago that the society was organized, and that its membership was six times what it was at the commencement of its career. (Applause). "Not only had we organized in Victoria, but we had been able to rouse considerable interest and activity in other towns. There is every indication that it is only a matter of a short time before anti-vivisection societies are organized throughout the Dominion," Miss Kitto said.

"Money is needed in many ways to carry on the work—publicity, printing, stationery, rent of halls, purchase and distribution of literature all demand some outlay. The public has generously come forward in response to the appeal and new members are constantly being enrolled," the secretary explained.

It was announced that a petition from the East is now being put into circulation, asking that dogs be exempt from vivisection.

Miss Alice Wicks gave a carefully thought out address entitled "Where is vivisection leading us?" and pointed out that there had been much human experimentation, giving authentic instances of the practice.

S. T. Hankey stated from the beginning that he was a convert. His remarks were directed chiefly against the theory of inoculation and vaccination. A few weeks ago he would have scoffed at the suggestion that vaccination was unnecessary or dangerous, but having thoroughly gone into the matter he had reached an entirely contrary conclusion.

Miss Morton gave a well-considered and delightful talk on the attitude of India to the animal world, stating that the balance of the world's opinion and the older civilizations, were against vivisection. Buddists claimed a kinship with the animals, and regarded them as their companions on the upward path.

Mme. Vivent's address related to health conditions in the Orient, and she gave a lucid description of sanitary affairs, the methods of the Chinese and Japanese in dealing with disease, and the clever and efficacious treatment given by native doctors. She also pointed out the extreme distrust felt against foreign elements and the fear of exploitation on the part of these people. Having lived in China and Japan for 14 years her knowledge of conditions was very thorough.

G. A. Warburton, consulting secretary to the Toronto Y. M. C. A., will remain in Victoria a day longer than he expected. It was ascertained that Mr. Warburton is a passionate angler and hearer of the excellent fishing facilities Victoria district possesses he decided to take advantage of them.

Mr. Warburton has been touring California with his wife. He said he was very much impressed by the optimistic feeling among the citrus growers, whose crops have been affected by the hard frost. The feeling was commensurate with that which prevailed in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta under the conditions during the Fall season of last year, he remarked.

He was very much impressed with the Mission play at San Gabriel, and remarked that it would be an excellent example which could be taken up in French Canada. The Mission Inn was also described. The inn is a spacious building, taking up one block, and various portions of the building have been fitted out to represent the Franciscan missions, of which there were twenty-one.

The educational system on the Pacific Coast impressed Mr. Warburton greatly, especially in the states of Washington and Oregon, where, he stated, the state universities have expanded in all parts of the states in the form of auxiliary schools.

CANADA'S POLITICAL LEADERS ALL BORN IN SAME DISTRICT

When party fights subside in Parliament Ottawa it would be stretching it greatly for the three Federal party Leaders to hold an Old Boys' reunion among themselves, for they were all born within a radius of about 30 miles, says the Toronto Globe. Their births took place within a period of two years; but they probably did not play together as boys, and may not have known each other until manhood brought them to the political arena. The coincidence is even more notable because the group may be enlarged by the addition of Mr. Hay, new Liberal Leader in Ontario, a native of Perth. Speaking more recently, Premier Mackenzie King was born at Kitchener on December 17, 1874, and lived there until university education brought him to Toronto in his late teens. Mr. Crerar was born not far from the Perth border, in Huron

ROYAL VICTORIA

Any attempt to cross the Pacific Ocean in a dirigible balloon is one of the stirring features shown in "The Lotus Eater," an Associated First National attraction, which is the attraction again to-day at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

John Barrymore, the eminent actor, is the star of the production, which was personally directed by Marshall Neilan. The story is from the book by Albert Payson Terhune, and the titles have been written by George Ade, the humorist. The cast includes such sterling actors as Wesley Barry, Colleen Moore, J. Barney Sherry and Anna Q. Nilsson.

Jacques Lenoir (Barrymore), accompanied a celebrated aeronautical engineer, who has invented a new gas, Anozyn, which he figures will enable the dirigible to rise 50,000 feet in the air, and thus aided by the air currents which are created by the motion of the earth, reaching the Orient within two days.

But within a short time it is apparent that the lifting power of the new gas has been overestimated, and that the dirigible will not be able to reach its destination. The second day in the air, the engineer spies a liner below them, and he leaps from the balloon with a parachute and is picked up by the steamer.

Lenoir, hopeful that the trip might be a success, continues westward until fuel and food are gone. Slowly the bag sinks downward, for the gas supply is being depleted. As the dirigible is a hundred feet from the water, Lenoir dives into the ocean.

Following an exhausting struggle with the waves, Lenoir reaches a small island, on which he finds strange adventures, happiness and love.

"The supreme problem of motion picture direction is to reconcile art with the dollar sign."

This is the conclusion of Robert Z. Leonard, who presents "Peacock Alley."

ley." The Tiffany production for Metro now showing at the Capitol Theatre, with Mr. Leonard's wife, Mae Murray, as star.

"There are many facts about the motion picture business which we do not like to admit," Mr. Leonard said. "One of these is that every detail, artistic or otherwise, must be measured by a standard of monetary return. Everything put into a picture must be of direct benefit to the box office."

"The drama, in some foreign countries, is subsidized by the government. Men of artistic ability can do things purely in the interest of art. But in pictures we must sell ourselves to the public. If it buys we are successful. Thus it is that the successful director must be an artist and also a manufacturer of merchandise. Many think and business will not mix. I think they are wrong. What success I have had is due to the fact that I realized my pictures must be sold by the exhibitor to the public."

In "Peacock Alley," Mr. Leonard has achieved his greatest success. The picture, by Edmund Goulding, from a story by Guida Bergere, tells of the marriage of a French dancer to an American business man. The photography is by Oliver T. Marsh, the art direction by Charles Cadwallader and the subtitles by Frederic and Fanny Hatten.

The cast includes Monte Blue, Edmund Lowe, W. J. Ferguson, Anders Randolph, William Tooker, Howard Lang, William Frederic, M. Darant and Jeffery Lewis.

VARIETY

Rose Merritt, in "Roads of Destiny," showing at the Variety Theatre to-day, found that no matter what she did or where she went the same fate was in store for her. The photograph was made from Channing Pollock's dramatization of O. Henry's famous story of the same name. It is a picture, with Pauline Frederick in the principal role.

COLUMBIA

Charles Ray may now be regarded as versatile an actor as there is on the screen. In "Scrap Iron," which opened yesterday at the Columbia Theatre, for an engagement of three days, he takes the part of a young mechanic in a mill town, and his portrayal of the character is every bit as satisfying as those of the simple country boy which brought him to fame.

The story of "Scrap Iron," adapted from one written by Charles E. Van Loan and published in the Saturday Evening Post, is not as broad in comedy as most of Mr. Ray's productions. In fact, it is not a comedy at all, although there are many good laughs and chuckles in it. The main theme of the plot, the fight of a young man for means by which he can give his widowed mother the things necessary to restore her health, is too dramatic and sympathetic to be called comedy.

Ray has the part of John Steel, nicknamed "Scrap Iron," willing to the wishes of his mother to give up boxing, at which he is most proficient, earns him the scorn of his fellow workers and his girl. His ambition to get ahead causes a jealous foreman to throw him out of his job. The family exchequer is down to the lowest point when the opportunity comes to fight the man who has stolen his girl and at the same time get the money of which he stands so sorely in need.

The fight makes a fine classic Revenge is far from the boy's thoughts until the money for mother's needs is assured; and then the fight develops into one that will make an avenger hold his breath until the conclusion.

Among those who assist Mr. Ray in portraying a most gripping story are: Lydia Knott, Vera Steidman, Tom Wilson, Tom O'Brien, Stanton Heck, Charles Wheelock and Claude Berkely.

PRINCESS

"The Blindness of Virtue," now being played by the stock company at the Princess, is without doubt one of the strongest plays ever attempted by stock company in this city.

The stage settings of the play have received most favorable comment, as they are very attractive. Harry Leland, Jack Phillips, Violet Neitz, Adeline Rundle and Vivian Moore are making a fine performance. A special matinee will be given Saturday and the last performance Saturday night.

COMING TO DOMINION

Rex Ingram, through his masterful production for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," established himself supreme among directors. A tremendous spectacle, envisaging the war as reflected through two continents, it overwhelmed with a superb sense of power.

In "The Conquering Power," his newest production, at the Dominion Theatre, next week, he works in an entirely different manner. Here we have an intensely intimate study of family life, a universal story of love and greed against the background of a French provincial town. The story has been adapted by June Mathis from Balzac's novel, "Eugenie Grandet," with swift-moving, masterful continuity. Mr. Ingram has illustrated it with pictures that have the tonal quality of great works of art; the soft lighting of the photography and the perfectly composed groupings give an exquisite sense of reality. It is a long stride from "The Four Horsemen," but, as an artistic achievement, no less noteworthy.

Although there are no official stars, three of the actors stand out with a stellar glow. Alice Terry, delicately beautiful and charming, gives a deep moving performance as Eugenie; Rudolph Valentino, handsome and debonair, plays the part of the rich, with a wealth of warm Latin temperament and magnetism; and Ralph Lewis, remembered as the Stoneman in "The Birth of a Nation," is thrillingly convincing as Eugenie's miserly father. Others in the distinguished cast are Edward Connelly, Edna May, George Kingston, William Le Hall, Mary Hearn, Bridgetta Clark, Mark Fenton, Eugene Pouyet and Ward Wing. The photography is by John F. Seitz and the art interiors by Ralph Barton and Amos Myers.

INTEREST IN BRITISH HOUSE DEBATES LAGS

London, March 24.—(Canadian Press Cable)—All interest in the House of Commons proceedings, feeling that nothing can happen in domestic politics until after the debate next week on the Genoa conference tends to make the members indifferent to the routine business of the session. The House was engaged yesterday in passing a number of supplementary estimates which have to go through before the end of the financial year and the proceedings were enlivened only by Jack Jones, Labor, Westham, who declared, in discussing an Irish estimate, that a Roman Catholic in Ulster had as much chance of receiving justice as a celluloid cat had of going through Hell.

There was considerable bitterness of tone shown in the House of Lords in the concluding stages of the Irish Treaty Bill. Lord Carson, once more figuring prominently in the discussion. There was a series of wrangles in which Viscounts Peel and Birkenhead, the Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Carson were involved. At one point the Earl of Crawford called out: "Order," a cry seldom heard in the House of Lords.

"Order, you!" retorted Lord Carson.

GOOD MUSIC'S VALUE TO CITY IS ILLUSTRATED

As Shown by G. W. V. A. Band Series

(By G. J. Dyke.)

Music is to-day a necessity, and in no wise can the art be called a luxury. It is the most democratic and the most social of all the arts. To-day there is a bigger craving for music than ever. People who are musical desire and demand music and are quite willing to pay to hear it. Good music is becoming more popular as season follows season and people nowadays are more critically inclined towards trashy music, and are not satisfied with anything that does not measure up to certain standards. Give the people good things and they will express good things. Ask their support to the genuine in art, and the aid is forthcoming. Municipal life is what is made of. And it is never forgotten that there always exists a wide public. Of this there is no doubt, but how often are adequate efforts put forth to amuse this public and provide for their enjoyment and pleasures? True it is many centres exist on this continent and in the United States. Here we have operas, their choirs, their orchestras, their festivals and their bands. But this is not always the case.

Bournemouth and Blackpool. As was stated some time ago Bournemouth is one of the foremost municipalities in England—And why? Because the authorities of that well-known seaside resort have for some time past provided good music for its citizens and its visitors. The community spirit of Bournemouth is splendid. The people there are unusually well supplied with music. And the same can be written of Blackpool and many other such-like resorts. What Bournemouth and Blackpool have done Victoria can do. The community spirit is here in abundance, and again can it be said that this is an extremely musical city. There is a keen desire for music here, and in evidence of this are the Saturday night gatherings at the Drill Hall and the winter concert, just concluded—on Sunday by the G. W. V. A. band. Both these affairs have been attended by very large numbers and the winter concert, in each instance there has been no municipal aid whatsoever, and each has been supported by the voluntary offerings of the people—a fact that cannot be too widely proclaimed.

G. W. V. A. Band.

For the moment reference is made more especially to the series of twenty concerts given on Sunday evenings at the Capitol by the Great War Veterans' Association Band. These concerts began last season on October 23 and with the exception of the Sunday which fell on Christmas Day, and another postponed owing to severe weather conditions, continued uninterruptedly up to last Sunday's happy and auspicious concluding concert. Of the popularity and desire for these concerts there can be no possible doubt and the attendances throughout the twenty concerts have been well over 15,000, a very large number. And this in spite of a long run of what became known among those concerned as "bad weather band Sunday." On two occasions were there capacity houses, and the last concert saw over two hundred people turned away. At no concert, even in very bad weather, were there less than 500 people present—a number so excellently encouraging that could not but hearten an optimistic management. On two occasions the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province and Mrs. Nichol and party were present, and congratulated those concerned. From close observation throughout the series there were seen many hundreds of strangers to the city, and it must not go unnoticed that there were, too, those who come Sunday after Sunday to occupy their accustomed seat. There has also been the case of the "widow's mite" and in some instances others were gladly admitted. The spirit of all times has been admirable and of the best. At no time was there a jarring note.

Public Appreciative.

The appreciation of the band's supporters has been most gratifying, and on all occasions the people of the community have been loyal, encouraging, warm-hearted and unflinching. The slip note on "My Favorite Hymn," proved interesting and at three of the concerts there was community singing of some well-known hymns, the words of which being donated by some business houses of the city.

The chief aim throughout the concerts was the maintenance of a high standard of programme, and Bandmaster James M. Miller must be congratulated in this direction, as his selections were always well chosen, and as varied as he could make them from a not over-indulgent library of band music. He, too, deserves much praise for the manner in which he kept his forces together, and there was not an occasion when the measure was not given both in vocal and instrumental numbers.

Cost of Concerts.

Perhaps it is, or perhaps it is not generally known that concert giving is naturally a more or less costly business in that the original outlay requires some skill to bring in an adequate return, but in this respect it is due the many supporters of the band to know that these concerts have come out the right side with enough to meet all demands even if little should remain for their promotion. And lastly, many thanks are due and must be extended the many who took part in these weekly programmes, mostly fellow-citizens nearly all of whom gave their services freely, ungrudgingly, and sympathetically. These are: Miss Hilda Knight, Robert Frith, Victor Edmunds, Mrs. Jesse Longfield, Miss Winnifred Bell, Mrs. Winnifred Meadows, Eva Hart, Ellen Bridge, Mrs. A. J. Gibson, Monty Read, Handley Wells, Miss Isa Taylor, Miss Dorothy Pomfret, Mrs. S. M. Morton, Capt. C. H. Christie Leitch, Mrs. Hamlet, Mrs. Grasley-Bick, Harold Beckwith, Mrs. Baird, Joseph Haig, D. Mason-Coley, Kenneth Angus, Mrs. A. V. Stokes, Miss Marie McLaughlin, Miss Pearl Heyman, Miss Louise deW. Moore, Frederick Waddington, Esquimaux School Choir, Reginald Hinks, Mrs. Styles, Behl, Roybert R. Webb, Drury Price, George Patterson, Arthur Gore, Miss Belle Eilers, solo violin, clarinet, trombone, Piccolo and cornet, members of the G. W. V.

CHEEK RUBBING DANCES SCORED

New York Legislator Proposes to Put Death Blow to Jazz

Albany, N. Y., March 24.—Creation of a state public amusement commission with power to regulate dancing is proposed in a bill introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman William Duke, Jr., Republican, chairman of the Assembly Codes Committee.

Jazz dancing, hugging, cheek-to-cheek dancing, neck-hold dancing and all classes of suggestive dances are sought to be banned by the bill. Enforcement of provisions of the bill would be placed upon the shoulders of inspectors named by the proposed commission and approved by the Women's Christian Temperance Union and religious organizations.

The bill also would make the time measure for certain dances as follows: Waltz 44, two-step 54, one-step 66, and fox-trot 43.

TOO LOW AN ESTIMATE

The musical director in a certain theatre has a superlative dislike for a certain popular song. Recently the composer of the song appeared at the theatre. Of course the orchestra had to play his song, and by the latter part of the week the director was almost desperate. One evening, before the show, the composer was telling everybody how it happened.

"And do you know," he concluded, "I was cheated out of all the profits on my own song. I received only $500 all told."

"And you wouldn't be bribed into keeping the song quiet for that small amount, would you?" put in the orchestra director.

Dear Sirs:—

I have your valued favour of the 21st inst. asking me what induced me to first use daily newspapers, and why I have continued to use that medium so steadily for making the public acquainted with SALADA Tea.

Thirty years ago, when I first put SALADA Tea on the market, Ceylon teas were unknown, except to experts, and, knowing as I did, how much superior in cup quality they were, to the teas of China and Japan, I tried to introduce them by inducing the grocer to buy them in the ordinary package the tea arrived in from the Orient, and attained considerable success. Unfortunately, however, after the retail grocer got the tea in hand, he did not handle it in such a way as induced the public to try it, but kept on supplying the poor, inferior teas that he had been handling.

Then I commenced to question myself as to how I would get the merits of these teas before the public—there was but one way, and that was to peak them and market them under a brand. But, when I tried that, I found that these fine teas continued to lie on the grocers' shelves, and the poor stuff they had been handling was still supplied to the public.

Then I thought of telling my story in a single newspaper, which I did, and soon saw results. The single medium soon became two, and then a dozen, and now many hundreds on the American continent alone, where practically every daily newspaper of any importance carries SALADA TEA COMPANY advertisements.

Yours truly,

PRETTY NEARLY CROWNED.

The way the reports come out from Toronto one would figure that the world's hockey crown is about to drop on the head of the Millionaires.

Vancouver Is Practically Concealed The Stanley Cup

Millionaires Defeated St. Patrick's Last Night By 3-0 Under Eastern Rules, and Fans Figure That They Will Bring Cup West; Fifteen Penalties In Hard Checking Tussle; Eddie Oatman Puts Stick-Mark on Cameron

Toronto, March 24.—By capturing last night's game, the third of the series, the Vancouver Millionaires took a good hold on the Stanley Cup and while the St. Patrick's may come to life and stage a victory on Saturday, the opinion of the majority of the spectators at last night's game was that the westerners are the better team and will win the world's championship.

The two teams entered the game on even terms, each having won the games staged under their opponents' rules, but after the sixty minutes, from which the coast champions emerged with a 3-0 victory, they looked much the better team. They beat Roach once in each of the three periods. The westerners played a strictly defensive game in the last period and were more content with preserving their two-goal lead than in increasing it.

Toronto Not at Strength.

Without detracting any credit from the winners, it must be said for the locals that they were not at full strength for the game. Cameron came out of the hospital to play and his foot prevented him from getting the distance and he had to take a number of rests. Stuart was also forced to take a couple of rests and for the main portion of the defence consisted of Randall and one of the team's regulars. When Stuart and Cameron were both on, Randall relieved in the line, but he was greatly missed as a relief when Dye and Denney showed signs of distress.

In the last period Randall sustained a fractured thumb, but continued after getting it temporarily bandaged. While the locals were not in the best shape, the visitors showed their claim, that they would likely have won if the locals had been at their best. The Millionaires gave their best exhibition of the series and toward the end the reliable old "Eagle-Eye" from the Pacific Coast were all fruitless. Lehman was there with the goods as usual, and they all looked alike to him, so simply did he turn the Irishmen's shots aside.

The Millionaires did not play as strong a game offensively as the locals and at the end of the game lay back on the defensive formation which forced the locals to carry the attack to them. However, when they did break away, they were generally outshone the locals' efforts to turn defeat into victory.

All Played Good. The winners all played good, although Duncan and Lehman looked the best. Adams was generally wrecked when he struck the defence and also drew down three penalties but none of them for serious offences. Lehman can be disposed of by saying that he played his usual game. Cook scored the first goal of the game but after that was content to play a defensive game. MacKay played the third defence position most of the evening although he broke away for a number of his speedy rushes. Adams and Skinner were as good as they have been in the series but missed several good chances when through the defence.

Not a Lady's Party. The game was rough at times, but while there were 15 penalties imposed several of them were hardly deserved. Referee Smeaton was not at all popular with the fans because many of his decisions were questioned in an uncertain manner by players and fans alike.

In the early part of the game Dye and Randall carried the brunt of the attack and the former after showing more back checking than usual became tired before the time ended as the referee was not as frequent as usual. Denney could not get going while Smylie was not as prominent as he was in the seven-man game. Noble turned in his best game of the series and his back checking was good. Cameron and Stuart, despite the fact that they were hard and made numerous rushes. Roach made some good stops but the final goal was an easy one, the softest that has been scored in this season. Oatman went through but when off his balance, shot one along the ice and Roach made no play on it, thinking the rubber would go past the post.

The Game As It Went. In the first period Dye, of Toronto, had the first shot on goal, but Skinner came back with a wide one at Roach. Stuart, who had been in the second of which he almost got the rebound. Dye had four shots dead on, which Lehman handled well. Adams worked into the corner by Randall, applied the history and got a penalty.

Denney went off just before Adams came on, but the locals held their own. When Denney came on, play was fairly even. Referee Smeaton was calling everything and there were many close decisions. Play slowed up, both teams playing very

First Presbyterians Will Have Hard Job Holding Visitors To-morrow Night

Bill Hudson, of the First Presbyterian senior basketball champions, who are to meet the First Presbyterians, Seattle pennant winners, at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to-morrow night, has received a letter from officials of the Sound club, which lead one to believe that the local boys are in for a tough old battle.

Sanders, it is obvious by the description given, is their star player, having been picked by the Seattle P.-I. as the best man for the all-star team. His reputation as a point getter is very high. In the game against the Appleton College he captured 25 field baskets, giving his team 52 points out of the 83 points which were secured.

"Both forwards made the all-city star team," the letter states, "and First Presbyterians of this city will have to hustle to keep these players down."

The line-up for the Seattle team has been announced as follows: Forwards, Sanders and Forester; centre, Fowler; guards, Campbell and Van Tiborg. McClaren will substitute.

"We will rely on our old line-up," remarked Angus, captain of the First Presbyterians, "and we will have to hustle to keep these players down."

GLOBE PAYS STILL ANOTHER TRIBUTE TO MILLIONAIRES

Toronto, March 24.—Commenting on last night's Stanley Cup game, the Globe, this morning says: "The visitors from the other side of the Rocky Mountains outplayed and outgeneraled the weakened local team, and had they adopted a more aggressive attack might have added several more goals to their total. They entered the contest favorites and never gave their supporters any cause to worry. Vancouver have outscored the Irish in the series by 8 to 5, and the vast majority of those who saw last night's game agree that the cup will likely go West.

"Vancouver are strong in every position, and they play heady hockey all the way."

With the Jackson Cup series out of the way the football field is now open to the Island League, which will stage two games to-morrow, one in Victoria and the other in Nanaimo.

Victorians will have the privilege of seeing the Ladysmith team in action to-morrow afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park. They will be opposed by the Metropolis Firsts, winners of the Jackson Cup. The kick-off will be at 3.30 o'clock and Charlie Faulkner will referee.

Victoria West will journey to Nanaimo and will play the miners there.

Much interest will be taken in the game and they will reflect to a great extent the chances of the Metropolis in the play-off for the British Columbia championship. The Metropolis defeated the Wests by 2-0 in the play-off for the Jackson Cup. Last week-end Nanaimo trimmed Ladysmith 3-2 after a very thrilling game.

It is figured by upper Island football circles that Nanaimo will win the right to play-off for the B. C. championship. The Wests seem to be going nicely just now. If the Wests turn loose the same team against the Coal City as they fielded against the Mets and can hold them to a close score it will serve to show what chance the local champions will have in the play-off. The same holds good here. The Mets will have to score a win over Ladysmith to make it appear that they will have a good chance against Nanaimo.

The game to-morrow between the Wests and Ladysmith will not start until 3.30 o'clock. The latter hour has been selected so as to give the juniors a chance to show their wares before the public. The Wests and Sanich Thistles, who are struggling for the local junior championship, have been selected to play Vancouver for the O. B. Allan Cup, emblematic of the B. C. junior title, will be the opponents. The game will start at 2.15 o'clock and Percy Payne will referee. The teams are playing a three-game series. Last Saturday the Wests defeated the Thistles by 1-0. The Sanich boys are a rival threat. They have a very strong team and will be able to come back to-morrow.

The local football association is anxious to encourage the juniors and has arranged to put their game on ahead of the big clash so that there may be some fans on hand to cheer the boys along.

Two games are down for decision in the Combination League to-morrow afternoon. The leaders, Thistles are due to clash with the Sons of Canada at Beacon Hill with Douglas as referee. The Scotties are expected to come through. They have not lost a game to date in this league. The second game will be staged at Work Point between the Garrison and Sons of Canada. This should be a close, even game. Billie Call will referee. The kick-off in both instances will be at 3 o'clock.

The Sons of England will line-up as follows: Stronach, Tuckwell and Ord; Green, Tupman and Harwood; F. Kerley, Smith, Speak, Small and Carmichael. Players are asked to be at Work Point grounds not later than 2.30 o'clock.

The Thistles will take the field as follows: Hewitt; Burton and Rickinson; Roe, Connell and Potter; Howden, Wright, Allan, Muleahy and Fitchner. Team to meet at Stadium at 2 o'clock.

The following Wests players are asked to be on hand at 2 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park for their game against the Sanich Thistles: Tooley, Watt, Judge, McLennan, Engle, Passmore, Sargent, Wachter, Underwood, Dunn, Hardie, Sellers, Butler and Clunk.

The official standing of the Combination Soccer League is as follows: Goals P. W. L. D. Pts. Garrison 7 6 9 1 11 23 S. O. E. 6 4 1 1 14 9 Sons of Canada 5 1 4 1 14 5 G. P. R. 5 0 4 1 2 7

Ruth and Meusel are under suspension until May 20 for having violated a rule of organized baseball which prohibited them from participating in exhibition games of outside teams.

Judge Landis spent the morning visiting the training camp of New York Americans and left last night for Orange, Tex., where the St. Louis Nationals are training.

New York, March 24.—Nearly $20,000,000 will be paid to major league players this year if the magazine give in to a majority of the "holdouts." With possibly two exceptions the payroll of each of the 16 clubs in the National and American leagues will be $100,000,000. According to rough estimates, the Yankees will top the list with about $175,000, followed by the Giants with at least $160,000. The estimated salary lists of the other clubs are as follows: Brooklyn, $120,000; Cleveland, $120,000; Detroit, $120,000; Pirates, $115,000; Reds, $115,000; Browns, $110,000; Cardinals, $110,000; Braves, $100,000; Red Sox, $100,000; Washington, $100,000; White Sox, $100,000; Cubs, $100,000; Athletics, $75,000, and Phillies, $65,000.

The return game between ladies teams representing D. Spencer's, Ltd., and the V. I. A. A. "B" team, which was played last evening at the V. I. A. A. gymnasium resulted in a win for the V. I. A. girls by a margin of two points. The first game between these two teams played was won by Spencer's by identically the same score, consequently another game has been arranged for next week to break the tie. Last night's game was very exciting. The close checking of the guards on both teams with the result that the forwards had very little opportunity for scoring, and the game from a spectator's point of view was very exciting.

The men's game between Spencer's and the V. I. A. A. Blues also proved to be closely contested, and was won by the former by 14 to 12. Both teams played a good game, and demonstrated that with a little more practice they would both develop into first class teams.

The other ladies' game between Calgarins and Spencer's was postponed until a later date.

WANDERERS TO VISIT DUNCAN TO-MORROW

Ruggers Will Try and Best Up-Island Team; Duncan Boys Figure Other Way

Duncan's star rugby team is to be given another test to-morrow afternoon when the Wanderers once again journey up the island to put on a game. This is the second match between these teams this season. Previously they engaged in a scoreless draw.

Duncan was so encouraged by its showing against the locals in the first game that it asked for another and this time hope to be able to shove over a good win.

The local boys are quite confident. They will leave on the 8.50 in the morning. The team will consist of the following: Fullback, Goodacre; three-quarters, E. A. Wallis, Wiltshire, Edwards, C. Wallis; five-eighths, Robertson; halves, Duke and McCulloch; forwards, Acland, McCulloch, Ryley, Matson, Kerr, Milligan and Baum.

TILDEN NOT GOING OVER TO WIMBLEDON

World's Champion Tennis Player, Decides Not to Go Abroad This Season

New York, March 24.—William T. Tilden, lawn tennis champion, will not go to England this Summer to defend the laurels he won at Wimbledon in 1920 and 1921, Julian S. Myrick, of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, announced today. The executive committee of the association decided during a conference with Tilden that it would be unwise to send any leading American players abroad this year, he said.

San Francisco, March 24.—William T. Tilden, world tennis champion, will play in matches in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Berkeley and several cities of the Pacific Northwest next May. Dr. Sumner Hardy, San Francisco, president of the Pacific Coast Lawn Tennis Association, announced today.

Tilden and Laurence Rice, of Boston, one of the ranking ten players east versus west tournament May 6 and 7, and the Pacific Coast championship tournament May 8 to 14 at Berkeley.

After the tournaments Tilden and Rice will leave for the Pacific Northwest.

Hay Chapman Pays Tribute to Oak Bay and Colwood in Pacific Golf and Motor

Says Hay Chapman, editorially, in his Pacific Golf and Motor: "A Californian who spent last Summer at Victoria, B. C., and who has been through the Pacific Northwest golf association championships meeting is to be held the week of June 1-10, and says:

"If the Victoria course at Oak Bay is a Puritan coquet, then Colwood is certainly the typical English grand dame. There is an air of quiet about it—no one hurries. The big oak trees that dot the fairways lend dignity even more than the tall hemlocks that border them. Here the unexpected never happens. There are no sheer drops over jumbled piles of granite but long smooth stretches of sod give one an erroneous idea of the distance the little white pill has to travel.

Dignified Caddies. "I suppose all caddies are lazy, but Colwood caddies, in addition to laziness, have dignity. One would not expect one of them to rush excitedly after a ball that had lost itself in the tall timber than one would expect one of the big old goblies that bend his arm across the greens and drop suddenly out of his strut in the middle of a gobble to chase a grasshopper."

GRANITE BASKETERS WIN AN EXCITING GAME

In the Redfern Street Hall of St. Columba Presbyterian Church a basketball game was played between the Granite Club of the church and the Hampshire Road Epworth League team. It was won by the Granite Club, 36-20. The game was fast and exciting all the way. The teams were as follows:

Hampshire Road—D. McNeill (captain), F. Ivers, R. Crombie, E. Showers, C. Ivers, R. Bowers and D. Stott (reserve).

Granite Club—L. Mallory (capt.),

R. Binning, B. Iversen, J. Nicholson, J. Gelling, J. Caskey and S. Brynjolfsson (reserve).

AUDIENCE SAW EUROPEAN SCENES

Lecture by Dr. Sipprell at Cobble Hill Hall

(Times Correspondence.)
Cobble Hill.—About a hundred and fifty people from all parts of the district came to the Community Hall in Cobble Hill to hear the lecture by Dr. Sipprell of Victoria. The address was illuminated with pictures that he had taken of the places through which he had passed. One of the objects of this journey was to obtain photographs of the graves of some of the local fallen heroes.
The Rev. A. E. Stephenson introduced the lecturer with a few words, and called upon W. Jones, who gave a splendid rendering of the solo, "I Know That My Redeemer is Alive."
Dr. Sipprell showed fine pictures of the English Lake District. He pointed out the winding roads which were to be seen all over the country—in fact, he stated that the only straight thing to be found in the Old Country was the people. A pretty picture of Wordsworth's cottage was shown before passing on through Derby. From there the audience was taken to the Houses of Parliament on the banks of the Thames, and next to Westminster Abbey. Portsmouth Harbor was shown and then Calais, and the audience began to understand some of the difficulties that arise when trying to find a particular grave. Arrived at last at the first grave which had been sought, the audience heard the song "In Flanders Fields," sung by Mr. Mumford of Victoria. The cemeteries are being beautifully cared for by the British. The Canadian and British soldiers lie side by side.

At the close of the lecture Mr. Stephenson expressed his thanks to all those who had come such a long distance, as well as to those who had taken part. Mr. Jones sang by special request "Mother Mary's," Mrs. D. Wilkinson accompanied the singers during the lecture.

BOXING CONTESTS HELD AT DUNCAN

(Times Correspondence.)
Duncan.—The boxing contest arranged by W. H. Baistone at the Agricultural Hall was well attended and reflected great credit on his coaching. The Agricultural Society's Cup for the heavyweight class was won by H. Phillips, with L. Brookbank second.
Powell and McMillan's Cup for the lightweight class was won by W. Dwyer, with P. Dwyer second.
Capt. Groves' cup for the fly-weight class was won by L. Fletcher, with P. Brookbank second.
Mrs. Groves gave a cup for the boy who fought the pluckiest losing battle and this was won by H. Levey.

The special bout between Tom and Ted Best was exceedingly good and was won by the former amidst much applause. J. Best and L. Stevenson gave an exhibition match.
Another special bout between Ronnie Young and M. Butt was won by the former, who thus gained a special cup, donated by the Cowichan merchants.
The blindfold boxing was the last in the programme and caused much amusement, those taking part being Charlie Muir, Jack Strouger, P. Chackery, L. Smith, W. Mayes, S. Pitt, B. Colk and R. McDonald.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

To the Editor.—In view of the discussion upon the subject of the observance of Sunday law which has been going on in the Victoria papers, it may be of interest to quote such an unprejudiced observer as W. H. Lecky in his book, "Democracy and Liberty," pp. 90-91, 92:

"It is certain," he writes, "that the legal prohibition of all Sunday labor had a religious origin, and according to modern principles, no restrictions based solely on a contested theological doctrine should be generally enforced by law. But another set of considerations, which have no part or a very subsidiary part, among the motives of the original legislators, have come rapidly to the foreground. It is now very generally recognized that a periodical and complete suspension of severe work is in the highest degree necessary to the happiness, the health, to the moral and intellectual development, and that one day in seven is the smallest proportion of rest which meets this want. Of all the failures of the French Revolution none was more complete than the substitution of a tenth for a seventh day of rest, which they established and attempted to enforce by law, and every innovation passed away without a protest or regret, and the proportion which the Jewish and Christian churches had assigned to the closing of all shops and refreshment rooms during the hours of Mass in towns of less than 50,000. After the Revolution of 1830 it fell into almost complete desuetude. In 1830 it was formally repealed."

THE MAN WHO SAVES

"If a man by working Sunday affected himself alone, I do not think the law would have any right to interfere with him. But the keen competition of industry this is impossible. A shop or manufactory which was open on Sunday would naturally distance its competitors, and a small minority would always have it in their power to enforce Sunday labor on a large majority. It is on this ground that the law is justified in imposing its restrictions on all, and when this general prohibition is found upon the whole to be of great advantage, legislators have naturally hesitated to admit of exceptions, which would be plausible or justifiable in themselves, might tend to weaken its force. The foundation of the law, however, is changed. It was originally enacted mainly or exclusively on religious grounds. It is now defended by its best supporters on secular and utilitarian grounds, though it still derives additional weight and popularity from the fact that a strong religious sentiment is behind it."

On page 92 Lecky adds these words, which are worthy of serious consideration in these days of reconstruction:

"No one who knows England will doubt that the existence of an endowment fund, primarily devoted to religious worship, has contributed enormously to strengthen the moral fibre of the nation; to give depth, seriousness and sobriety to the national character; to save it from being wholly sunk in selfish pursuits and material aims."

TUBERCULOSIS.

To the Editor.—I have read with great interest the report published by you of 11th inst. in the Victoria Medical Society, showing their recommendations for coping with the tuberculosis menace in B. C. The Society is to be congratulated on their zeal in bringing their sound ideas so forcibly before the eyes of the public. Followed up as this report has been by the meetings held in Victoria this week, I cannot but hope that the desired results will ensue. But, the public are, as I know, after 25 years of active work as a surgeon in the Old Country, curiously and lamentably foolish, taking them as a whole, where the health of their bodies is concerned and it will take a lot more to drive into their minds the truths which these efforts contain and reveal.

Surely in this Province where immigration must be the basis of development and prosperity, our politicians must perceive that a "clean bill of health" is one of the strongest inducements to intending settlers and that a rapidly increasing mortality from tubercle and cancer can hardly be placed in that category.

It is high time that legislation be enacted whereby tubercle be placed on the list of infectious diseases for compulsory notification and measures be taken for the dissemination of literature, on this and other diseases, written in the same common sense way as the lectures which have been addressed to Victoria audiences this week.

The capacity for isolation and treatment of tuberculosis cases in the Province at present in proportion to the number of cases is obviously entirely inadequate.

I hold strongly that the only way to stamp out Venereal Diseases is to place them too on the compulsory notification list.

This I believe no Government has had the courage to do except in the case of one Province in Australia.

From an educational point of view it is no use talking about research work, but this too should be taken up by every Government in the world, why not by ours?

sums expended by the Governments of the world were devoted to Medical Research we should soon find that the means of conquering these dire diseases would be forthcoming. Many that seemed a few years ago quite as hopeless are already under command.

I cannot help feeling absolutely optimistic as to the future, both in the case of tubercle and cancer. I believe their death to be constitutional in the sense of only being able to develop, each on its suitable soil. The outstanding proof of this is the fact that they do not occur in the same individual, in spite of the presence in so many surgical cases of tuberculosis of "constant sources of local irritation" in the shape of sinuses to dead bone, etc., etc.

The full blooded will probably be found to be too rich in nitrogenous compounds, the tuberculous to be wanting in the same. That a ferment of ferments will be found to correct them, rapidly to the fore, is a matter of interest to me.

It goes without saying that research work is the one means we have of advancing in the war against disease and I shall be interested to be informed as to the state of medical research work in this Province.

MACHINE GUNNERS AND SIGNALLERS ARE INSPECTED

Bdr. Gen. J. M. Ross, G. O. C. M. D. No. 11, who inspected the 11th Canadian Machine Gun Brigade, and Fortress Signalling Companies at the Armory last night, compliments all ranks on the showing made. Under Major C. H. Cowan, No. 1 Company, M. G. B., turned out nine officers and thirty strong. Lieut.-Col. A. Grahame, officer commanding the brigade in British Columbia, was present, having attended from Vancouver for the occasion.

Following the inspection of the machine gun company the 11th Fortress Signalling Company was reviewed, under Captain Frank H. Allwood. Four officers and sixteen men paraded, being 50 per cent. of establishment. On Monday evening next Bdr. Gen. Ross will inspect the Fifth Regiment, C. G. A., and the 16th battalion, Canadian Scottish, Major-General Sir Henry Burstall, Inspector-General of Canadian Militia, was to have conducted the inspections on the coast this year, but was recalled by wire from Ottawa after reaching Vancouver.

ADJOURNED.

Vancouver, March 24.—Adjournment of the case of G. S. Wismer, charged with a violation of the Elections Act, which was to have been heard to-day, was granted by Magistrate Shaw for one week, at the request of the Attorney-General's Department. No evidence was taken.

The Man Who Saves

At age 19 his bills exceed his income.

At age 21 his Canada Life Policy creates an estate in event of death and saves his money.

At age 35—the age of extravagance—his "bills" include a "premium due," which, while counted as an expense, is really a saving.

At age 50 he can "spend" anything in reason.

At age 60 he has "saved" to some purpose, has no anxiety for the future, and leisure for his many interests.

If you look ahead you can easily picture how useful $30,000 would be to you.

This amount of money can be more easily saved than most people imagine, in this way:

If you were to start in and save $200 each six months and let it compound at 5 1/2%—in 30 years you would have $30,000, but—you know of many people who could have set aside this amount, yet who are still "drudging along," with no hope of relief.

You know yourself how hard it is to save cash. Human nature is such that very few people allow ready money to remain untouched for any length of time. Therefore—

The Canada Life Plan

Provides that any sum you name will be delivered to you in cash at any age you desire, or to your beneficiary should you die in the meantime.

By this plan an IMMEDIATE ESTATE is created in event of death equal to the full face value of your insurance policy. You anticipate years of effort, capitalize your present health and earning power, and make certain of many years of progress now.

The Endowment at 65

issued by the Canada Life makes saving money attractive, systematic and very profitable.

You can be certain that the full amount—$2,000, $5,000, $10,000, or more—will be paid in any case, whether you live or not. Other investments may fail—the Canada Life Endowment is a certainty. It will take care of your home, your business, your children's future, or yourself, as nothing else can.

Profits Will Hasten Maturity

If the profits are allowed to remain each year, instead of being withdrawn and spent, a special clause provides that the face value of the policy will be paid some time well in advance of the due date.

Regular saving, an immediate estate in event of death, substantial profits, absolute safety—this is a combination that you should look into today.

THE LOVE PETAL

CHAPTER I.

"Quite lucky, I call it. She's got the catch of the 'Wanderer'—bags of it—just waiting to be put in circulation. All the fond mothers have had hopes of annexing Colin Campbell to their family tree, but he wouldn't nibble at their bait—seemed not to realize they were after him."

"Which is she? Point her out, will you? You must remember I've been out of things for two years, hunting around the dark corners of the world, where the only women to be seen are black and hideous. All these buds look wonderfully alluring to me." Emory Pinnell glanced eagerly around, viewing delightedly the bevy of youth and beauty looking like Dresden figurines in their frothy, billowy frocks of tulle and chiffon, of satin and glittering beads.

"There she is," Winifred nodded toward a slight figure, framed in the doorway of the huge ballroom, a girl of scarcely nineteen, with luminous dark eyes and hair the color of corn silk at sunset. The dash of color in her cheeks glowed as though lighted by the torch of happiness; her lips were scarlet. She was simply clad in white tulle and round her hips extended a garland of daisies.

"Jove! what a beauty," exclaimed Pinnell. "There is something about her which seems akin to the daisies she wears, slender and lovely and fresh. Where's Campbell, by the way? If I had his luck I wouldn't risk leaving her for a moment."

"Campbell is talking to his cousin, Jane Dupree. You remember her, surely. She is that tall, brown-haired girl I met at the wedding. Wonder why she wears that shade? It isn't a bit becoming, if I am any judge. But she's good to look at. Shouldn't doubt but that she is rather hard hit by the engagement. She is an heiress in her own right and the joining of the two fortunes was a diplomatic stroke which the gossips have it, she has planned since she was old enough to think—and a wise head has Jane."

"Come," he added gruffly, "let's see what there is to drink."

Without waiting for a reply or assent from Pinnell, Wray led the way to an adjoining room where refreshments, liquid and otherwise, were being served.

And, as was to be expected, the guest gathered there were discussing the engagement which had been announced that night. The old Campbell home, tucked away in the hills of Westchester County, had been opened for the event, after years of solitary occupation by a caretaker. A few of the guests were to stay on for a week, but the majority would return to the city during the early morning hours.

"Neharath! were they in discussing their host's betrothal. They gave him credit for having made a name in the legal profession, despite his fortune. They agreed that his lean, virile make-up, his forcefulness were attractive, and yet they were united in the opinion that the match was the result of lineage on the part of Mrs. Cartwright Kent, mother of Neata Kent, the acknowledged 'Beauty' among the debutantes of the season."

Cartwright Kent had bequeathed to his widow and daughter an enviable name, signifying loyalty, honesty, truth; he had willed them a small home in the fifties; he had left them several debts and few dollars.

"Wray, let's go back to the ballroom," blurted Pinnell. "I want you to present me to Miss Kent. I can't forget the charm of her. She looks as though she is waiting eagerly to discover what there is in this big old world—I wish I were the one to teach her."

"Well, remember you're not," cautioned Wray dryly. "It isn't really necessary that you should meet her. The crush is so great and you'll be going back to town soon." He hesitated ungraciously.

"You seem to think I am not a proper person to make the acquaintance of the young 'innocent,'" sneered Pinnell. "Is it true I just got along with you, uninvited, but be decent about it, man. Everyone else has forgotten that affair for which I was banished. I might as well and you may as well forget it too. I'll promise not to harm the dear girl and to remember not to 'poach on Campbell's preserve.' No, that I've promised to be perfectly proper, be a good sport and do as I ask."

Grudgingly, Wray complied with his request and in anything but good grace introduced to the honoree of the evening the one-time scapegoat, whose irate parent had forced him into exile because of his attention to a Follies beauty which brought scandal in its wake.

However, he had returned to his haunts of old and it was much easier to forget than to take up the past, especially when the person concerned in the matter was a girl.

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store. It's ready to use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. Another Big, Gripping Story by the Author of "A Gamble in Beauty," Which Recently Created Such a Sensation

By NANCIBELLE HALE

ed was possessed of that thing called personality for lack of a better description, was a good ear player, a graceful dancer and an interesting talker, whether it be relating his own wild experiences or the dexterous turning of some bit of flattery which his listeners, most invariably women, were only too glad to hear.

He leaned over Neata's slim, tapering fingers. From her wrist was suspended a finely woven gold bracelet, a favor presented by Campbell to the women guests, and to this was attached her dance programme.

"May I?" asked Pinnell, his soft, full-toned voice implying that to dance with her was the one object of his life.

"Certainly, I shall be pleased," Courteous was Neata, but indifferent. "I am indeed fortunate. It seems that the next dance is open. There is no name beside it."

"I beg pardon," coldly interrupted Colin Campbell. "You have that dance with me, Neata."

"Really?" She laughed, a little, low ripple, as sweet to hear as singing birds to city-bred ears. "I have forgotten." Turning graciously to Pinnell, she explained, "I never put down Mr. Campbell's name. I'm sorry. Perhaps later."

She was gone in the arms of her lover, swaying lightly as down blown from a cottonfield tree in a lazy Southern breeze.

When Campbell reached the wide glass doors leading to the conservatory, he stopped dancing and, motioning Neata to precede him, entered the great bower of greenery and exotic blossoms. Through the treasure-house of blooms they went, out into the garden which lay bathed in the silver moonlight.

They were relieved to escape, for the moment, the throng, friendly but inquisitive, rather tiresome in its original expressions of good wishes.

Neata put her hand through Campbell's arm and snuggled close. She was like a homing bird, glad of someone's care. It did not matter so much about her own emotions. It was thrilling to be the centre of everything. It was pleasant to know of her mother's satisfaction at the coming marriage. But most of all, it was good to be loved. To come first in the life of someone else, perhaps to be needed in some small way.

"You haven't told me how you like the old place," said Colin. "Of course, you must do as you please, but I thought perhaps, if you cared to, we would spend most of our time here. It is close enough to the city for me to go in every day. It is for you to decide."

"Like it! I adore it!" his fiancée exclaimed extravagantly. "The house is wonderful. The age of it, with its cloak of ivy, and its vanguard of trees appeals to me strongly, but most of all I believe I love the garden. It must have been planted for me, she laughed almost breathlessly. "I surely no one else ever loved daisies as I do and look how many there are here. They are such honest, wide-awake flowers. See, I'll tell your fortune with one."

Stopping quickly, she broke one of the pale blooms from its stem and slowly pulling petals by the stem, murmured "She loves you; she loves you not."

The last petal clung to its green base. "She loves you," announced Neata, blushing.

"May she always," breathed Colin prayerfully.

Did the flower tell the truth? Colin wondered. She was such a girl. Did she realize what she had promised and was she really his heart and soul and mind? He was tortured by doubts.

"Colin, you won't think I am mean or little-minded, will you, if I ask you something?"

"No, darling, surely not. I want you to express your thoughts to me always. Ask me anything you wish."

"I may be wrong, but somehow—there is no way in which I can account for it exactly—but the impression I have is that your cousin, Jane Dupree, is in love with you—that she doesn't approve of our marriage."

"It all came with a rush and ended with a short, sharp gasp. The effort to express her suspicion had been great.

"Absurd, ridiculous," Colin clasped the slender form close. "You fool! Jane is my very good friend, besides being my cousin, and I want you to believe in her and confide in her. Far from being in love with her, I sometimes think she actually dislikes me, but all of a sudden she does something which proves her friendship."

"What are you on this subject, I want you to promise that if you ever find that you care more for someone else than you do for me, you will tell me. His sensitive lips quivered; his gaze was wistful.

"I couldn't possibly be so impolite," she teased. "Though it would hurt me to know that your affection for me had lessened, I would rather know the truth."

"I fret you horribly, don't I, Colin?" she asked penitently.

"No." "You are nice to deny it but your eyes agree. You were angry not long ago when I almost gave you a dance away to that handsome blond chap—what's his name—Pinnell?"

"He is not the sort of man I wish you to marry, I'm sure," said Campbell. "He is for too worldly to put any ideas into your beautiful head." And, stooping, he kissed her gently above her arched brows.

DR. GABRIEL MAGUIRE SPEAKS ON CANNIBALS

Story of Life in Upper Congo Again Told Here

So successful was the previous address of Dr. Gabriel R. Maguire, F. R. G. S., on his experiences in the Upper Congo that a demand at once arose to bring the popular pastor over from Vancouver again. The University Women's Club was able last evening to meet the desire, when Dr. Maguire spoke to a large audience at the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Maguire was able to support the thrilling features of his story with souvenirs of the area traversed, let, a favor presented by Campbell to the women guests, and to this was attached her dance programme.

He pointed to the contrast between the methods of Livingstone and Stanley. In Livingstone's case confidence in the natives won esteem, while Stanley made his great trip with an armed band.

He gave some interesting sidelights on cannibalism, and spoke of the high moral type of the natives from the standpoint of absence from social diseases. The condition of the women of the native tribes was described, and the lowly position they occupied in the social scale.

Experiences with big game were dealt with, notably with buffalo and rhinoceros. Some of the skins of reptiles found in the forest were described, as the cobra (of Nadya), the Bana Mazinga, the cobra, the python, the emboa (non-poisonous), the angola and the madada (harmless), of which the doctor produced specimens afterwards examined by members of the audience.

Mrs. A. de B. Farris, as president of the University Women's Club, made allusion to her expected early departure, appealing for continued support for the organization, and for the University Women's Scholarship scheme.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. Maguire for his interesting address.

DICKIE SPOKE OF DRYDOCK WORK

Nanaimo Member Shared in Commons Debate

Skeena and Ontario Members Also Heard

Ottawa, March 24.—C. H. Dickie, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, made a strong plea for continuance of work on the drydock at Esquimalt. A large number of men were employed on it, and a great deal of hardship would result if it were discontinued.

He hoped the Government would be able to absorb the Pacific Great Eastern Railway in the National system, as requested by Premier Oliver recently. He was not in favor of Government ownership in general, however, because it never secured the loyalty and one hundred other different things which came from employees of a privately owned system.

He hoped that "if a magnificent corporation came along the Government would let the railway system go," because long as the right men were in Parliament the companies could be made to obey the will of the people.

Skeena Member.

Alfred Stork, Liberal member for Skeena, said the population along the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was greater than along the Canadian National Railway. In 1916, twelve schools were constructed along the Canadian National Railway west of Edmonton, while forty-six were built along the Grand Trunk Pacific line. In 1921 one school was built on the Canadian National Railway, while 22 were built on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

The country through which the Grand Trunk passed was rich in natural resources, and short spur lines would open areas rich in minerals and suited to agriculture. This was the best country in the whole of Canada.

Oriental.

When British Columbia entered the Confederation in 1871 there was nothing in the agreement to indicate that the Province was to support a large Oriental population. British Columbia, said Stork, now does not wish to be a sacrifice on the altar of international goodwill.

Oriental controlled the whaling industry and the truck farming industry of British Columbia, and were making heavy inroads into the timber industry. The Oriental birth rate was four times as great as the rate of the white population. Returned soldiers were idle while Orientals were carrying on the work of the country. Members of Parliament in order to be more fully able to appreciate actual conditions.

Railways.

John Stansell, Conservative, East Elgin, informed the House that since his election he had received copies of newspaper articles marked with red pencil, in favor of private ownership of railways.

"I do not suppose," observed Mr. Stansell, "that this propaganda is financed by any great-hearted patriot."

BY-ELECTION IN BRITAIN TO-DAY

London, March 24.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The by-election in Chertsey, caused by the death of Sir Donald MacMaster, M. P., will take place to-day. Both candidates, Sir Philip Richardson, Unionist, and General Sir Herbert Gough, Independent Liberal, have been speaking at public meetings several times a day. A week ago a truce was called on the introduction of personalities, which had consisted mainly of references to the historic controversy concerning General Gough's handling of the Fifth Army in March, 1913.

At the last, however, General Gough found himself confronted with remembrances of how he sent good wishes to Ramsay MacDonald, ex-M. P., when the latter was contesting Woolwich against Captain Gee, V. C. The General admitted that he sent MacDonald a message wishing him good luck, but protested that this was because MacDonald was fighting the Coalition.

He asserted in addition that MacDonald was not so bad as he was painted. His opponents, however, made the most of the spectacle of an avowed Independent Liberal expressing sympathy for an extreme Socialist.

The meetings on both sides were well attended, but the contest was rather dull.

Leicester.

The candidates in the East Leicester by-election, necessitated by the elevation of Sir Gordon Hewart, Attorney-General, to the Lord Chief Justiceship, were nominated yesterday. They are A. E. Marlow, Coalition Liberal; R. W. Allen, Independent Liberal, and Alderman Banton, Laborite. It is asserted that the Liberal wing of the Coalitionists at Westminster attaches more importance to this contest than any other recent by-election. The election will be held shortly before the motion comes before the House of Commons to arm Premier Lloyd George with the confidence of the House before he goes to Genoa. Conference. "Lloyd George for Genoa" is the slogan which Coalitionists are hearing through the length and breadth of East Leicester.

Are They Asking For YOUR Brand?

When a customer enters any retail grocery store what chance is there of his specifying YOUR trade-marked products? Does he know your goods? Has he ever heard of them? Are you neglecting the most potent selling force in Canada to-day—DAILY NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING?

To-day, when millions of dollars must follow the crop movement into circulation, there is something wrong with the firm that laments poor business and will not tell the public of the merits of its wares. Daily Newspaper advertising is a mighty sales-building force no manufacturer can afford to ignore.

Daily newspapers are read by everyone—in every class, station and condition of life. They are read by people who NEED your goods, who WANT them, who will ask for them BY NAME once they know their merits.

Consistent Advertising in Daily Newspapers of Canada is the most economical, most effective sales force you can employ. Use it. Plan your advertising campaign now.

CITY LABORERS' WAGES REDUCED

Warned It Cannot Afford Present Standard, Council Makes Cuts

Framers of Salary Report Want It Scrapped; Would Disorganize Service

After involving itself in a mesh of resolutions and counter-resolutions, and after framers of the now famous salary reduction report had urged that this document be scrapped altogether, the City Council at last decided definitely yesterday to cut the wages of city laborers. While in the City Engineers' Department staff salaries were left intact, common laborers will be paid $4 a day instead of $4.40, maintenance garbage men and sewer laborers will receive $4.25, boulevard and park workers $4 a day. Alderman Woodward proposed that all laborers who have been employed by the City for more than a year be placed on a monthly salary basis of $100, but this idea was not supported.

As soon as the meeting started to consider the ill-fated salary report, Alderman Leeming called upon the Council to face the financial facts, and reduce wages to a figure which the City could afford.

Alderman Leeming recalled that the sinking fund investigation had shown conditions that could not continue this year. Local improvement sinking funds had been "scooped" into the General Sinking Fund for several years, and this must stop this year, he asserted. He pointed out that city tax collections had been $322,000 short last year, that the city had been forced to borrow $75,000 to carry on and that $28,000 in bills had been left unpaid.

Must Face Facts.
"How can we take care of our commitments this year?" he demanded. "What are we going to do about it? We shall not get the necessary money in, I can assure you of that. And here we are going merrily along as if we were going to have all the revenue in the world. You can't raise the money by higher taxation and the bank has cut down our borrowings. The question now is not whether we should pay such and such a wage but how much can we get the work done for? We have been dealing in the past and it can't continue this way."

Alderman Todd suggested that the Council leave the salary report and go on with its general estimates. Alderman Woodward, who signed the report, moved that it be rejected entirely.

So many aldermen wanted to talk, however, that neither of these motions got anywhere and the discussion continued to wander far afield. Alderman Andros said that salary reductions could not be popular and yet, in view of the city's financial position, reductions must be made. He quoted the salary report as saying that if it was just to raise wages when living costs rose a few years ago it was equally fair to cut wages now.

Urges General Cut.
Alderman Hayward declared that either a general salary cut including aldermen's salaries, should be made or else salaries should be left on their present basis. Reductions in some cases and raises in others would be most unfair and would do away with whatever incentive employees now had to do their work well. He urged the Council to make a general direct salary cut or to leave the salary question alone until Dr. Adam Shortt could investigate the city's whole financial position.

Alderman Hayward complained that the delegates who had represented the employees at the recent salary conference had been "outside" men entirely. The "inside" workers had not been directly represented, he said.

When members of the committee which framed the salary report suggested that it should be rejected entirely, Alderman Andros protested: "You make these recommendations and then you want us to ditch it? What's the idea?"

Alderman Gillespie cut into the discussion with, "If we don't get a move on we'll soon have to start work on our next year's estimates."

Would Scrap Report.
Alderman Woodward, while he had signed the report repeated that he hoped the Council would reject the document. No one in the City Hall service, he believed, was receiving sufficient pay and to adopt the report would be to disorganize the whole service, he declared.

Alderman Patrick resented suggestions that certain employees were being improperly favored in connection with salaries. This was absolutely untrue, he said.

Alderman Dewar warned the Council to remember that, while the cost of food had come down, many necessities were as high in price as ever. Alderman Woodward, Harvey, Dewar and Hayward supported the Woodward motion that the salary report be scrapped and it was declared lost.

The Todd motion that the Council go on with its general estimates, shelving the salary report for the time being, was then adopted. Later on the Council used the recommendations of the report in deciding on various City Hall salaries.

MAGNESIA FINE FOR ACID STOMACH

Quickly Neutralizes Acidity, Stops Fermentation, Sweetens the Stomach.

Nine people in ten, when food upsets the stomach causing distress, think they have indigestion. In reality they are suffering from "acid stomach." An excess of acid in the stomach causes gas, heartburn, bloating and sourness. It is only a matter of time before the stomach contents are neutralized and the stomach contents sweet. No artificial digestants are necessary. Just take a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia from any good drug store and take a teaspoonful of the powder or two tablets in a half glass of water after each meal or whenever the slightest pain is felt. The result is amazing and you will be delighted with the almost instant relief it brings. This famous stomach sweetener combines Magnesia and Bismuth in desirable proportions and is not only a potent effective but perfectly harmless. Its regular use keeps the stomach sweet, strong and healthy all the time.

Bismarck Magnesia is well known to druggists everywhere and is used usually by more than half a million people who now eat as they please, in reason with no more fear of indigestion.

COUNCIL WHITTLES WORKS ESTIMATES

Pares Down Engineering Estimates Heavily in Economy Effort

Wielding its annual pruning knife in all directions, the City Council yesterday cut estimates for the City Engineers' Department to the extent of nearly $40,000. Votes for street repairs and new trails were cut $6,000, a $3,000 estimate for new garbage trucks was eliminated, an item for repairing the Sooke Lake flow line also was heavily pared, and the plan to pave Johnson Street on the Esquimalt Peninsula was abandoned. These cuts are in addition to salary and wage reductions.

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.
A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folk believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then odoriferous gases like Lardol, gas in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

LIGHTING SCHEME TO BE PREPARED FOR ALL SAANICH

Street Lights May Be Installed With Municipal System

Cemetery Board Selection Causes Ripple

Installation of a centrally-controlled and municipally owned rural street lighting plant in Saanich was brought perceptibly nearer last night, when Councillor McWilliam reported to the Municipal Council as to an interview with the British Columbia Electric Railway Co.

After outlining the possibility of running circuits through Saanich, each carrying from 200 to 250 street lights, and controlled from one central turn-off station, Councillor McWilliam stated that the Railway Company favored ownership by Saanich of the whole system proposed, the municipality purchasing power in bulk from the Lighting Company. He then moved that the Clerk be instructed to prepare a map showing a comprehensive series of street lighting circuits, as a necessary preliminary to further negotiations.

Improvement Area Planned.
This course was authorized after Clerk Cooper had suggested that the method of carrying the cost should be on a local improvement basis, the districts benefited being created a special area and assessed accordingly. The Council was informed that the cost of installing street lighting in Saanich, if confined to the more closely settled areas, could be kept somewhere near $25,000, with a great annual saving in maintenance costs as compared with the present piecemeal system.

Pension Payments.
The Council decided to notify George P. Pyke of the Mothers' Pensions Board, that it was prepared to pay $10 monthly towards maintenance of men who are incapable of earning their own living, making the family and family are being assisted by the Pensions Board.

This action was taken after Reeve Watson reported that an interview with Mr. Pyke, this being to the effect that the Board had found a number of cases where the grant made to a mother was not doing the good expected, because shared among too large a number of persons, through inclusion in benefit of the incapacitated father.

Cemetery Board Selections.
Saanich representatives upon the Inter-municipal Cemetery Board, to act with Mayors, Aldermen and Councillors of Victoria, were last night appointed by the Council, these being as follows: Reeve G. W. Watson, for three years; Councillor G. McWilliam, for two years, and Councillor A. E. Horner, for one year.

Councillor Watrenight moved to this effect, whereupon Councillor Dooley demanded "is this railroad or what?" and urged that an en bloc nomination was objectionable. Councillor Macneil, objecting to the inclusion of Councillor Horner in his absence, moved inclusion of Councillor Dooley in his stead for the one year term.

This failed on Councillor Dooley not voting, and the original motion only passed on Reeve Watson's casting vote, given after he had said, "Gentlemen, you place me in an unfortunate position, I must either defeat this motion or vote for myself. The motion carries. One thing is certain; the Council of the City of Saanich this year is going to be no easy matter." Councillor Macneil insisted upon being recorded as opposing nomination of anyone for the one year term, despite Reeve Watson's suggestion that such a demand was "merely a quibble."

At Memorial Avenue.
Following this the party will proceed to Memorial Avenue where Mrs. Hill, who accompanies the Marshal, will assist in the tree planting. After the ceremony is carried out the party will continue the drive around the Saanich Peninsula.

Returning to the Empress Hotel at 12.15 the Marshal and Mr. Hill will be guests at the Associated Reserves' luncheon. At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the Marshal will unveil a memorial tablet in the St. Andrew's Church and at 4 o'clock he will visit the Army and Navy headquarters in the Hamley Building.

While the Marshal is engaged in these duties, Madam Joffre and daughter will be the guests of the Women's Canadian Club at luncheon, followed by a reception.

Are You a Born Advertiser?

Certain merchants get a reputation for being born advertisers.

They may have earned the reputation. They were not born that way. Their particular genius has lain in the fact that, having marvelous faith in the power of Daily Newspaper Advertising, they went ahead with it regardless of immediate results.

They had courage. And the courageous advertiser gets the greatest rewards.

There are those whose temperament is not suited to Napoleonic tactics. Neither will their product or pocket-book permit them to use these tactics even if they were so inclined.

Daily Newspaper Advertising is as another brain to the sales force of these men. It is the one medium from which they get quick and accurate returns; and are so able to repeat their advertisements as often as conditions warrant, and the treasury justifies.

This is particularly true at this time of the year when the season, the weather, the change of fashion, the state of public mind and attitude of competitors, all combine to affect daily sales.

The born advertiser is not necessarily the large space advertiser nor does he have to have more than one thing to advertise.

If he is quick to seize every incident in his daily life and capitalize it in his next day's advertising—the public will soon pay him that tribute of admiration expressed in the words "a born advertiser."

Issued by The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Head Office, Toronto

guests at Government House, Thursday noon the Rotarians will hold a luncheon at which it is hoped the visitors will be able to attend, and Thursday afternoon the Marshal and party will leave for Seattle.

May Go To Mainland.
Vancouver is anxious that the visitors should spend at least a day in that city and if it should so happen that the Marshal accepts the invitation he and his party may leave Victoria Wednesday night. However, until a reply is received by wireless nothing can be stated definitely as to the movements of the party, but at any rate the meeting made it possible for the visitors to participate in a series of events which should afford them enjoyable entertainment while in the city.

The public is asked to display as many flags as possible, not forgetting to honor the great visitor with a generous display of his national emblem. The Women's Canadian Club and other women's organizations are asked to arrange for the entertainment of the lady members of the party.

Reception Committee.
Alderman E. B. Andros was elected chairman of the reception committee and in addition to the presidents of all public bodies in the city, the following, who were present at last night's meeting, were named on the reception committee: W. A. Allen, Dr. Clay, F. J. Sehl, B. C. Nicholas.

DONKEYS IN MESOPOTAMIA
Donkeys are commonly used in Mesopotamia, especially near the sea-board. In the neighborhood of Basra, they are more often met with than camels, in and around the city (says the Monitor) you may meet them straying their way through the press, the scantily garbed drivers urging them along with a shrill cry, or seated sideways on their backs. A mob of them, bunched together, come crowding down the lane; on one side is the placid creek, on the other a crumbling mud wall encloses extensive date gardens, and in the setting sun the palm trees cast fantastic shadows athwart the white roofs. In a cloud of dust, donkeys, staggering beneath the burden of heavy grain bags thrown like bolsters over their backs, travel along.

In the Summer, they are taken down to the creek by their small masters and drenched with water; but who shall say from their demeanor whether they enjoy or abhor this treatment, since they stand stock still under it, with the same expression of stoical resignation. On the high banks of the Tigris near Baghdad are erected many chard—that is, wooden framework carrying rollers for special agents.
